EARL KERRY KILLED IN LONDON | WATER FAMINE FEARS AT AN END

TUBE FALL UNDER TRAIN

HEIR TO MARQUIS OF LANSDOWNE

ONLY NINETEEN YEARS OLD

London, Sept. 12.
The nineteen-years-old Earl of Kerry, eldest son and heir of the Marquis of Lansdowne, was the victim of a terrible accident in London to-night.

The young Earl fell from the platform at a tube station as a train was rushing through and was killed instantly.

The first two carriages ran over his body.

It is thought that he was standing too close to the edge of the platform and was seized by giddiness as the tube train approached.

In 1928, when he was only fifteen years of age, the Earl survived a succession of illnesses including a serious attack of typhoid.

BRILLIANT YOUTH.

He was described as an exceptionally brilliant youth. He had just returned from a tour of Germany, arriving in London this morning. He was due to rejoin his family at Derreen, Kenmare, Co. Kerry in Ireland to-morrow.

The Earl of Kerry was born in October, 1913, the eldest son of the sixth Marquess of Lansdowne, who succeeded to the title in 1927, and who has two other sons and two daughters.—Reuter.

The bride, Miss Chang Hsueying, is from Kiangsu, and is an art student visiting London.

The distinguished Chinese painter, Peol Hsu, performed the ceremony, and the best man was Lieutenant Wang Ko-tsun, who has just passed out from Sandhurst Military College.—Reuter.

CHEERFUL STOCK MARKETS

KAFFIRS SHOW BEST POINTS OF DAY

London, Sept. 12.
The stock markets generally left off with a cheerful tone. Kaffirs closed at about the best points of the day on continental buying. British funds finished steady with War loan 3 1/2% at 100 5/16.

Oil, rubber and home rails were firm, but German bonds declined earlier. International showed appreciable gains.—British Wireless.

GREEK VESSEL SINKS

Margato, Sept. 7.

The Greek steamer Archon, of 3,511 tons, while on her way from South America to London, collided during the night off Margato with the s.s. Treherbert and went down within one hour. The crew was rescued.—Reuter.

BRITAIN TURNS THE CORNER

ENCOURAGING TRADE RETURNS

AN ALL-ROUND
IMPROVEMENT

London, Sept. 12.
From many reliable sources recently, evidence has been forthcoming of a very definite improvement in trading conditions in Great Britain.

The best possible confirmations are provided by the Board of Trade returns issued to-day which show that the improvement is not confined to a few trades and industries only, but includes business generally.

For the eight months to the end of August, imports decreased by about £35 1/2 millions as compared with the corresponding period of last year, while over the same period, the decrease in exports was about £8 1/2 millions.

In recent months, however, the figures have tended to improve and those for August are regarded as exceptionally encouraging.

Exports last month totalled £35,297,184 as compared with £34,171,060 in July and £32,043,245 in August 1932.

Imports compared with August last year show an increase of £3,432,077 which is entirely due to the larger amounts of raw materials entering the country.

Some of the principal increases in exports compared with a year ago occur in iron and steel, wroten manufactures, electrical goods and cutlery and hardware. British automobile exports also continue to increase.—British Wireless.

NEW ALIGNMENT IN EUROPE

FRANCO-RUSSIAN

AIR MINISTER'S VISIT

Paris, Sept. 13.
Hundreds of people, including the Soviet Air Attache, cheered as M. Pierre Cot, the Air Minister, waved farewell on his departure for Moscow by air at 2.40 p.m. yesterday.

The other two planes which are accompanying M. Cot, left Paris earlier, but all three will reach Moscow together.

The French visit comes about as the result of Russia's desire to seek new friends as a consequence of Hitler's anti-Communist regime, which has broken off Russo-German ties.

Russia especially desires French assistance, instead of German, in reorganising their civil and military aviation services.

Owing to the French alliance with the Little Entente, the French rapprochement with Russia should entail a more peaceful atmosphere in Eastern Europe.—Reuter.

POLISH AIRMEN CRASH

One Killed in End to Record Attempt

Moscow, Sept. 12.
The two Polish airmen who left Warsaw yesterday in an attempt upon the world's long-distance flight record have crashed in Soviet territory.

Captain Lewoniewski died of the injuries he received.

It is understood that Colonel Filipowicz, who is the Polish Director of Civil Aviation, was also badly hurt.—Reuter.

BRITAIN'S KEY POSITION

THE DISARMAMENT QUESTION

Paris, Sept. 7.
L'Intransigeant declares in an editorial this morning that it is the widespread opinion that Great Britain holds the key position as regards world disarmament.

The journal expresses satisfaction that Britain is beginning to realise the "eternal peril" from Germany and its allies. Only when Great Britain explicitly refuses to permit German aggression against anybody will calm return to our minds.—Reuter.

RACE PONY KILLED

NEWCOMER FROM AUSTRALIA

MISHAP DUE TO SCARE

One of the recently arrived Australian ponies No. 14, owned by Messrs. Lewis and Tinson, had to be destroyed this morning following an accident which occurred as it was being taken from the stables to the racecourse.

The animal, a mare, after getting a severe and breaking away from its maoos at the point where the stable path meets with Wong-nichong Road, came to grief in front of the Dragon Motor Garage.

One report states that the animal ran its head through a plate glass window.

As far as could be ascertained there were no external injuries.

Mr. Watson, the veterinary surgeon, was summoned and it was found that the pony was paralysed in its legs and could not get up. The animal was humanely destroyed and the carcass removed to a slaughterhouse.

It was pointed out by a prominent local racing man that a very obvious danger existed at this corner. At this time of the year the ponies were liable to get "above themselves" and to break away from their maoos. If they did so they were very liable to crash into the wall which borders the nullah.

WOODRUFF MURDER TRIAL

CHAUFFEUR UNABLE TO IDENTIFY SUSPECTS.

Harbin, Sept. 7.
The trial of two Chinese and a Russian by the name of Bafronoff, who were arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Mrs. Helen Woodruff on October 12, 1932, is now in progress.

The principal witness is Mr. Woodruff's chauffeur, Yasuchenko, who was wounded during the attack on the murdered woman.

Yasuchenko said that Bafronoff looked very closely at the occupants of the car when it was about to leave the house, this apparently being a pre-arranged signal. He was, however, unable to identify either of the two Chinese.—Reuter.

ENGLAND SHARES COLONY'S LUCK

Drought Breaks In London

London, Sept. 12.
London has experienced its first wet day for several weeks. Light rain was general over Southern England to-day and fell also in many parts of the North. The forecast is for unsettled conditions.—British Wireless.

JAPANESE ARRESTED

LATEST SOVIET BORDER INCIDENT

CAUGHT BY GUARD

Harbin, Sept. 13.
The arrest of a Japanese official of the "Manchukuo" Customs Station, who apparently crossed into Soviet territory, is now the subject of an exchange of Notes between Manchukuo and Soviet officials.

The Japanese concerned is a Mr. Kameyama, employed by the Customs at Sulfenho.

He was apparently found walking in the hills to the east of Pogranichnaya by a contingent of Soviet frontier guards, and immediately placed under arrest, on a suspicion of espionage.

The arrest took place on Sunday and it is suggested by the Manchurian authorities, who are negotiating for his release, that Mr. Kameyama was merely taking advantage of the Sunday holiday for a hiking expedition.—Reuter.

MRS. DANKO IMPROVES

Shanghai, Sept. 8.
Tamara Dobrovorskoyna, the wife of G. Danko, suffering from stab wounds received in the French Concession on Tuesday, was reported at the General Hospital yesterday as having improved. She has not yet, however, passed the critical period. Meanwhile, Danko remains in the Amoy Road Gaol, pending charges by the American authorities.

AMATEUR GOLF

RECORD BEATEN
IN AMERICA

FISCHER LEADS THE FIELD

Cincinnati, Sept. 12.
The qualifying rounds of the American amateur golf championship were completed to-day at the Kenwood Country Club, and an all-time record was broken thanks to a brilliant round of 69 by Johnny Fischer over the last eighteen holes.

Fischer led the field by a comfortable margin at the end of the qualifying stages.

His first round score was 72 and his 69 on the second venture gave him an aggregate for the 36 holes of 141, which is a new all-time qualifying round record, beating that of 142 established by Corkran in 1924.

Fischer played great golf to-day, holing out some notable shots on the greens.—Reuter.

Pat Sawyer, of Minneapolis, later came in with an excellent card which placed him second to Fischer with an aggregate of 142. He did the first 36 holes in 70 and the second in 72.

Aggregates of 149 qualified for the match play stages and twelve competitors, with scores of 150 were required to play off for the last eight positions.—Reuter.

TUNNEL UNDER GIBRALTAR

PROJECT GAINS SUPPORT

Paris, Sept. 6.
Preparations for the construction of a tunnel under the Strait of Gibraltar are actively going on, according to the Madrid correspondent of Le Temps, who states that the bottom of the sea in the entire region which is coming into question for the projected tunnel has been carefully studied from a geological point of view and that a company with British, French and Spanish capital is expected to be formed early next year in order to carry out the enterprise.

There are no technical obstacles to the construction of the tunnel but it would be necessary, it is pointed out, to proceed simultaneously with the building of a railway on African soil so as to render the new means of communication between the two continents practicable.

The correspondent of Le Temps emphasises that the announcement of the scheme is treating considerable speculation in the market.

BIG INCREASE IN STORAGE

SUPPLY HOURS NOT TO BE CHANGED

GAIN NOT YET SUFFICIENT

The island reservoirs have benefitted by nearly three hundred million gallons as a result of the heavy rains brought by Monday's weather disturbance, while Kowloon's reservoirs are already full.

The prospect of a modification of the water restrictions in Hongkong is, however, remote at the moment. Further heavy rains are not anticipated yet.

The typhoon is now in the Gulf of Tongking, about one hundred miles west of Hainan Straits, moving slowly westwards.

A trough of relatively low pressure extends from Indo-China, across the Philippines to Guam.

The weather forecast is: East winds, fresh; cloudy, with occasional rain, improving.

NEARLY 300 MILLIONS.

The total island storage this morning amounted to 1,736 mill. galls, being an increase of 280 mill. galls, during the past 48 hours. Even without further rain the reservoirs will continue to rise for a few days yet.

The storage position is now appreciably better than it was on 13th. September, 1928, when the dry spell responsible for the 1929 water shortage had set in.

The storage on 13th. September, 1928 amounted to 1,456 mill. galls.

NO EXTENSION YET.

No extension of the present hours of supply are possible just yet, but a little more rain might improve the position sufficiently to enable this step to be taken.

The total rainfall for the past 48 hours has varied from 7.00 inches at Tylam to 9.94 inches at Aberdeen.

All the mainland reservoirs are full and they will remain at or near capacity for the next few weeks without further rain.

BRITAIN'S FINANCES

THE TREASURY
RETURNS

London, Sept. 12.
The latest Treasury returns show that the ordinary revenue for the current financial year up to September 9 amounted to £250,428,045. At the corresponding date of last year the amount stood at £243,634,267.

The ordinary expenditure to date for the current year totalled £255,086,000 which is nearly £32 millions less than the total ordinary expenditure at the corresponding date of last year.—British Wireless.

Group Play Cures Selfish Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Jimmy replied to Roger's coaxing, "All right, I'll go over to your house for a little while if you'll promise to come to my house the rest of the time."

Roger promised. He was delighted to have the little boy who never would go anywhere, but stayed in his own yard.

They played at Roger's very nicely. Roger's mother was very kind. She heaped them with attention. She suggested they play upstairs when it was so hot outside—so they played upstairs. She brought in a plate of fresh little cakes and they ate the cakes. She gave them sister's new jigsaw puzzle and they worked at that.

A Polite Guest
Grandma came in and beamed. She asked Jimmy all about how his mama was and said he was growing and what a fine little boy his daddy had been. She said if Jimmy would take home a bouquet of

Adrienne Ames

White is always glamorous and the Hollywood stars know it! Adrienne Ames wears a pajama costume of corded white silk. The trousers are cut very full to allow comfort and the sleeves, with extremely full armholes, taper down neatly at her wrists. She adds the required note of contrast by a green tulle bow, tied under her chin.

MOVIE STARS SHINE IN BRILLIANT SATINS

Helen Vinson

Hollywood.—That glamorous fabric, satin, and plain materials with shiny, satin touches are quite in evidence in Hollywood these days.

Helen Vinson wore a lovely evening gown of flesh crepe trimmed with bands of deeper colour. The top of the frock was gathered, in flattering manner, on the high, pointed waistline.

Tiny shoulder cape sleeves, graduating down to form a jabot back were edged in the darker colour. The train was quite long.

Jean Parker wore a black satin dress with white ruching around the high neck and three-quarters length sleeves.

Dorothy Wilson had on a black satin evening gown with a broad green band draped over her back and shoulders.

Frances Dee chose a soft blue-green dress and topped it with a quilted satin jacket.

Her hat had a wide, drooping brim and the crown was gathered at the top.

EVENING STYLES

(From a Paris Correspondent.)

Where evening styles are concerned, there is not just one clear, blocked out silhouette. There are lots of them.

One of the five evening-dress silhouettes that stand out clearly is the modernised bouffant silhouette, with a slim bodice, and a skirt that billows out all round. Another is the silhouette culled from the 1900 fashion books—a silhouette that has sleeves, that is fitted, and tight down to the knees, where it begins to froth with ruffles.

A third is a slim, easy silhouette from top to skirt-hem, with a dual ruffle to make the skirt stand away from the ankles.

Fourth is the evening silhouette that has plenty of back fullness in the skirt, and is rather straight in front. Fifth on the leading-silhouette list, is the tube-and-flare-skirt silhouette, which has a straight, slightly-bellied bodice, a fitted hip-band, and a flared lower skirt. This one is familiar to girls who wore evening gowns in 1926.

The boyish silhouette appears in smart sports suits, and in gay ensembles. Suits that have jackets in checked, striped, or plaid material, and skirts of plain, or vice-versa, are very boyish, and as has been already stated, their blouses are sports shirts, or boyish shirts waists.

others are a bit selfish. They can dictate here. Away they must give in more or less to the others. Forcing them out only makes them worse.

Group games overcome this. A boy or girl learns to think of "sides" instead of self.

The protector of life

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

EVE HAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE Barnes, advertising manager of "The Daily News," is a construction superintendent temporary working in Lake City. DICK wants Eve to give up working but she refuses.

ARLENE SMITH, stenographer in the advertising office, fancies herself in love with GEORGE BLISS, but he is snubbed by MONA ALLEN, trouble-making copy writer.

Eve receives a letter from IRENE PRENTISS, former schoolmate who is paying the stock market. Eve decides to do the same thing. Without Dick's knowledge she borrows money from her mother and with it buys stock.

At a party given by FRED CARTER, buyer at Dixie's, SAM HOLEHUDGE, an advertising man employed by another store, becomes infatuated with Arlene. Eve is annoyed by the attentions of THERON REECE whom she met in New York. Reece takes her home when Dick fails to come for her.

CHAPTER XX

At 10 o'clock the next morning Eve answered her desk phone to find Theron Reece on the line. "How about luncheon at my hotel this noon?" he asked.

"That would be impossible," Eve answered curtly.

"Let's make it the Music Box then," he urged. "We can dance."

"No—a thousand times, no!" Eve answered and hung up the receiver.

Arlene looked over with a grin. "For whom were those cold, cruel words?" she teased.

"That man Reece," answered Eve with contempt in her voice. "As though I would go to lunch with him!"

In a few moments Mona received a telephone call which she answered

ed in monosyllables. Later she surprised Eve by asking her to have lunch with her at a fashionable Italian restaurant. Inasmuch as this was the first overture of its kind Mona had made toward Eve felt that she should accept. When they reached the street at noon they found the snow dazzling in the February sunshine. There were crunching sounds under their heels as they crossed the snow-packed street. Within the entrance to the New Arcade stood a boy with a tray of violets. Eve stopped and bought a bunch which she pinned high on her fur collar so that they nestled close to her chin. As she breathed their fragrance a feeling of sweet contentment came over her.

The feeling persisted as she and Mona entered the revolving doors of the restaurant. Mona tripped before Eve, her extreme French heels sinking into the deep pile of the carpet as she led the way up the short flight of iron steps to a little balcony. She said something to the waiter which Eve did not catch and they were seated at a table near the rail where they could see the diners below. The waiter removed a card marked "Reserved" and took their order.

Eve glanced about her and nodded to three girl acquaintances. Then she happened to catch the eye of Earle Barnes who was seated at a small table with a strikingly pretty woman, fashionably dressed. Barnes nodded.

"Who's the lady friend Barnes has out to lunch?" asked Mona.

"That," responded Eve, "is Mrs. Barnes. She comes to the office only on rare occasions. She really is very sweet and always dresses beautifully."

"She ought to be able to do a lot for herself," Mona went on. "There would be no excuse for Barnes' wife looking like the year before last—with the salary he makes!"

Eve said nothing.

"How much do you suppose he gets?" Mona persisted.

"I'm sure I haven't the slightest idea," Eve told her. "But everyone knows he's a highly valued employee of Dixie's."

"Think of all you could do on a salary like his!" Mona said dreamily.

Eve looked at the other girl curiously. Surely Mona did not aspire to Barnes' job—or did she? It was difficult to tell what went on behind that baby face. Just now Mona seemed the very essence of sweet, innocent girlhood. Her round, blue eyes had a wistful expression as she raised them demurely. From under her chic black hat a few blond curls showed. Her simple black dress with its low neckline was studiously cut to do full justice to Mona's attractive figure.

Eve was surprised to see Dick enter the restaurant with three other men. They took a table on the main floor and Eve could watch them easily from her place on the balcony. She said nothing about it to Mona. After their order was given the men bent their heads over a blueprint which one of them spread on the table and they became engrossed in conversation.

Suddenly Mona smiled brightly. "Oh, there you are!" came a masculine voice from behind Eve. She turned and saw Theron Reece. He smiled and bowed in a mocking manner.

And still it took a while before Eve realized she had fallen into their trap. That telephone call for Mona after Eve had refused to go to lunch with Reece had been from him of course!

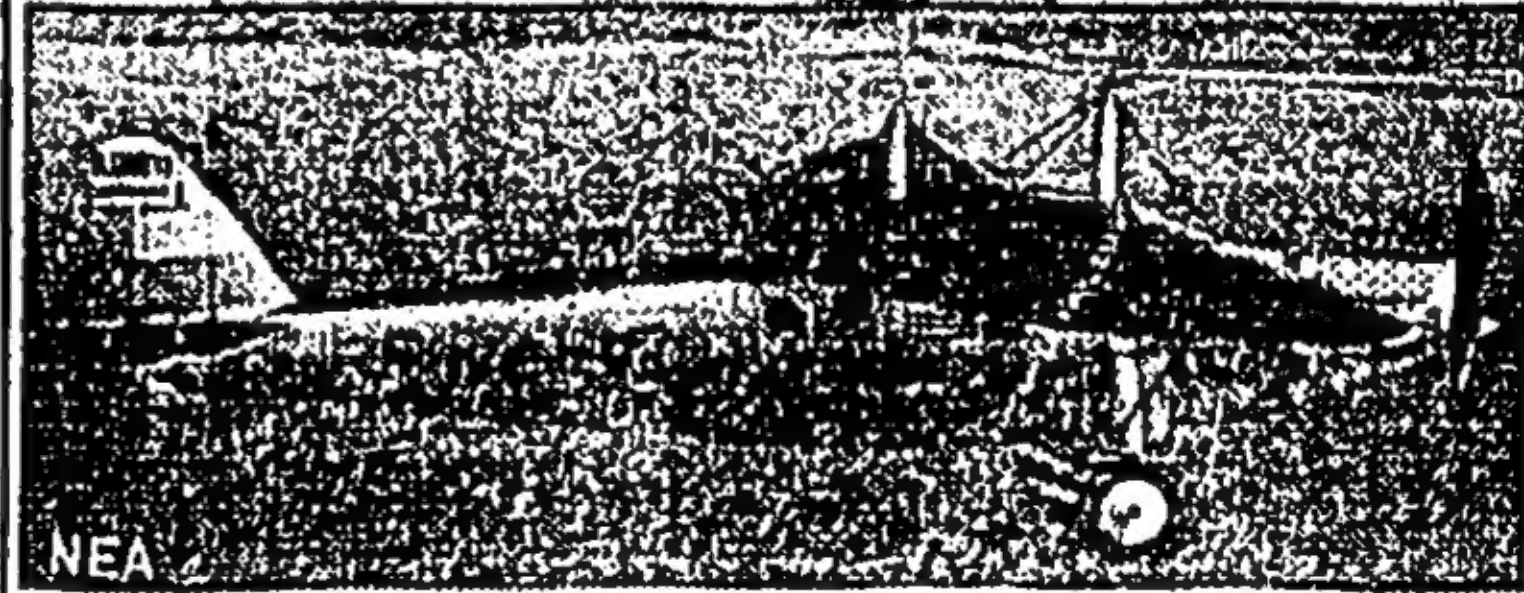

Their spaghetti arrived, steaming hot, on platters with silver covers. Eve could not very well leave without making a scene. She broke off a bit of French bread and ate it while Reece gave his order to the sleek waiter. Soon Mona and Reece were engaged in a gay conversation. Eve said very little. Now and then she glanced down at Dick but never met his eye.

Surely Mona would prefer to be alone with Reece. Why then had she plotted with him unless she enjoyed causing Eve vexation? Eve puzzled over the situation.

The French flyers, Maurice Rossi (left) and Paul Codos are pictured above at Floyd Bennett Field, New York, before taking off on a flight which they hoped would set a new non-stop long distance record. Their giant nine-ton monoplane, carrying the heaviest load of fuel ever lifted from an American field, is pictured as it cruised smoothly over Newport, R.I., on its way to sea.

A dispute of authority between Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania (upper left) and Sheriff Harry E. Hackney (lower right) as to the handling of the strike of more than 15,000 miners in the coal fields of Fayette county, precipitated the Pinchot proclamation ordering the National Guard to the strike area. The troops are shown arriving at Brownsville.

HE LOST HIS TEETH—and HER!

Pyorrhea has done its deadly work

ONE tragedy followed another. At first it didn't seem serious. She noticed his bleeding gums and told him not to neglect them, but he did nothing. They became sponge-like and tender. Next the teeth loosened at the very roots! Then one tooth fell out, another had to be pulled out. Now half of them are gone.

Pity him? Yes. But he could have avoided it, easily, just as you can avert such a tragedy. Every morning and evening, brush your teeth with Forhan's for the Gums. More than a tooth paste, this scientific dentifrice is prepared to prevent dread pyorrhea. It not only keeps your teeth clean and white, but prevents pyorrhea from attacking your gums, your teeth, and your health.

Forhan's for the Gums is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., specialist in mouth diseases. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Antiseptic developed by Dr. Forhan and used by dentists throughout the world in the treatment of pyorrhea.

OVER 280 WICKETS FOR "TICH" FREEMAN

ASTONISHING RECORD FOR SIX YEARS

CAN HE TOP THE 300 MARK?

OPPORTUNITY NOT YET LOST

LATEST CRICKET

London, Sept. 12. With his inclusion in the "Rest" eleven to meet the champions at the Oval on Friday, almost a certainty, A. P. Freeman, the immitable Kent spin bowler, has a good chance of finishing the season with over 290 wickets to his credit. He may even be in the position to top the 300 mark, as his achievements received by cable include only those of outstanding merit.

From these records alone he has already taken over 280 wickets, and of these 100 have been obtained since August 5. From August 20 to to-day, the slow bowler has captured 55 wickets, and for the last ten matches he has averaged 10 wickets a match—figures without parallel in first class cricket.

Freeman holds the record of the highest aggregate of wickets in one season—304 obtained in 1928 at an average of 19.05 runs per wicket.

It was on this occasion that he broke the existing record established by Tom Richardson as far back as 1895, who took 290 wickets in that season.

1375 WICKETS.

For the last six years Freeman has "bagged" over 200 wickets in one season, another achievement without equal. Here are his figures:

1928	304
1929	267
1930	275
1931	276
1932	253

His test feat performed for the South of England against the M.C.C., is 13 for 152.

He was hit freely in the Marylebone's first innings, five wickets costing 130 runs, but in the second innings there was a different story.

He overwhelmed the batsmen, and captured eight wickets for 22 runs.

The South of England won with ease, having an innings and 32 runs to spare.

ANOTHER JOHNSTONE.

They accomplished this in the face of an initial score of 375 by the M.C.C., to which C. F. Johnston contributed 133, his second century of the season in first class cricket and incidentally following immediately on his three figure knock for the Gentlemen against the Players.

The South gave an even more joyous display at the crease. Wally Hammond helped himself to 184 and when the score stood at 462 for 7, the innings was closed.

The M.C.C. fared miserably in their return visit, being sent back for 55. As already shown it was Freeman who did the damage.

W. I. LOSE LAST MATCH

Verity Captures 10 for 107

The West Indies lost their last match of the tour when they were beaten by 125 runs by Leveson-Gower's Eleven.

Verity had a field day, taking 10 wickets for 107 runs, and the only batsman to shine was R. E. S. Wyatt, who collected 108 runs.

Martindale bowled cleverly for the West Indies, obtaining 5 for 87.

The English team hit up 310 and 196 for 5 declared, to which the West Indies replied with 150 and 251. Verity took 5 for 20 in the first innings and 5 for 87 in the second.—Reuter.

Suffering from serious injuries caused by being knocked down by a motor-lorry in Hurrow Street, 22-year-old girl living at No. 8 Cross Street, is now lying at the Government Civil Hospital in a serious condition.

GEORGE SMITH COMING

George E. Smith, the Leamouth professional, who was in Hongkong a few years ago and gave valuable instruction to local golfers, expects to be here again in November. It is understood that he has notified the Royal Hongkong Golf Club by cable of his intended visit. Many will recall George Smith, and his ability to improve his pupils' game. Later, he sent an assistant out to Hongkong from time to time, and it is interesting to learn that he is now coming out himself for the winter season.

SPEY CUP

FINAL WILL BE PLAYED

DECISION MADE YESTERDAY

The final of the Spey Royal Cup Competition between the Kowloon Dock R. C. and the Craigengower G. C. is to be played off at a date to be fixed later.

This decision was arrived at by the Committee of the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association last evening, when the difficulty over the final match was fully discussed by the representatives from the various clubs.

Mr. J. Kempton, representing the Kowloon Dock R. C., agreed to take the responsibility of withdrawing the original letter to the Association, and it was decided that the matter could therefore be settled by the final being played off on a date to be arranged by the sub-committee.

Interpret Practices. It is announced that F. Cullen of the Kowloon Dock R. C. agreed to play in the Interport practice games on Saturday, and his place will be taken by W. Mair of the Police who is reserve for the Interport team.

Cullen is No. 3 to R. F. Luz whose rink will now be A. E. Coates, J. Chalmers, W. Mair and R. F. Luz and they will meet J. V. Ramsay, A. Hyde-Lay, F. J. Jones and A. M. Holland.

TO-DAY'S CLASSIC.

Hyperion Favoured For St. Leger.

ALMOST A CERTAINTY.

It was learned late last night that Highland, Belfry, Donasol, Earlston and Typhonic had been scratched from the St. Leger. There will be fourteen starters. The despatch added that Bullock would ride, Light Sussex, Fox King Salmon and Lowry Solitaire. Otherwise the horses and riders as published yesterday are unchanged.

London, Sept. 12. If the consensus of opinion of owners and trainers is any criterion, Hyperion, the winner of the Derby, is a certainty for the St. Leger.

Hyperion is owned by Lord Derby and will be ridden in to-morrow's classic event by T. Weston, who comes a total of 82 winning mounts, comes just below G. Richardson, H. Wragg and W. Watson as England's leading jockeys. Weston rode Hyperion to victory in the Derby, which was won in the record time of 2 min. 34 seconds, three-fifths of a second being clipped off Call Boy's time in 1927. Incidentally Weston also rode a Derby winner in 1924, his mount being Lord Derby's Sansone.

The St. Leger, however, is a notorious race for upsets, as witness the defeat of Camorran, the 1931 Derby and 2,000 Guineaes winner, by Sandwich, in 1931, and the defeat of Orwell, the favourite, by Firdausi last year.

The Hon. G. Lambton, the trainer of Hyperion, Highland, and Sealark Tiger, says that all is well and sound with his horses, although Hyperion does not prove that he is a smasher at hard going.

R. Dawson, the trainer of Harinero, and incidentally the trainer of the 1929 and 1930 Derby winners, says that Harinero will run well, but he cannot see him or any other horse beating Hyperion. G. Bell, who is training King Salmon, which came second in the Derby, says likewise.

Captain Bohrens, owner of Light Sussex, which will be ridden by the redoubtable Pat Donoghue, is of the opinion that the hope of the North will be the fittest horse in the St. Leger.

The Aga Khan, who had such sensational luck last year, says that Felicitation, which was quoted as yesterday's list at 22 to 1, may win, but there is not much hope of beating Hyperion or King Salmon for first places.

Alfred Butt is not optimistic regarding the young colt, which is quoted at 20 to 1, but he is quoted as 22 to 1.

A. Lawson, the trainer of Donasol, Earlston, and Raymond, says that his charges are thriving; and Sir Abe Bailey, the owner of Raymond, expects that his horse will give a prominent display, especially with Gordon Richards, the champion jockey, riding.

NAZI ECONOMICS

GERMAN BANKING INQUIRY

STATE & PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

The commission of inquiry appointed to conduct a general banking inquiry for the Reich, assembled to-day for the first time to hear the speech of the Governor of the Reichsbank, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, who discussed ways and means of the inquiry.

Other speakers were Commissary for Economics, Herr Keppler, as well as the Secretary of States, Herr Gottfried Feder.

Dr. Schacht declared that the present German banking system is not sufficient when it comes to tackling problems amounting to an economic as well as national revolution. The last banking inquiry held in 1927 to 1930 was conducted only from the point of view of party interests with the result that no real success could be achieved. The present enquiry certainly will be successful and its findings will find application in the realm of law and administration.

One of the most important duties of the commission, Dr. Schacht declared, must be to determine with the utmost precision the dimensions of its functions. Should private enterprise and state work and act against each other, dangerous disturbances would follow.

NAZI PRINCIPLES.

Herr Keppler, Commissary of Economics, maintained that the "leader" principle must become effective in the country's economic and banking system in no less degree than the political life of the state. He attacked the concentration of power into bureaucratic, undisciplined bodies of banking institutions which up to now were strongly decentralised.

National Socialism believes, he said, that the greatest weight of the whole economic system must be given to productive undertakings and enterprises. The duty of the banking system must be to assist these productive forces.

The Secretary of State Herr Gottfried Feder declared that National Socialism is fully aware of the fact that the three parts constituting economic life production, circulation and conjunction, production must by all means remain free from any interference from the State if it shall be able to fully exercise its creative abilities. On the other hand, circulation has to be handled in an entirely different manner. It is the duty of the state to supervise this branch of economics.

Herr Friedrich, member of the Board of Directors of the Reichsbank, announced that legal coercion would not be applied to as a fact-finding method, with the sole provision, however, that the wishes of the commission should be complied with. In order to finish the gigantic task within the current year, the commission will convene four days a week.—Trans-Ocean Kio Min.

JAPAN'S DUMPING

CHEAP FOODSTUFFS ON MALAYAN MARKET

Singapore, Sept. 12. Following the dumping of cotton piece-goods in Malaya, Japanese have started importing foodstuffs into the Straits Settlements.

Eggs, scientifically packed in order to keep fresh for weeks, are being imported from Japan and retailed at one cent each, compared with 2½ cents each for local eggs.

Large quantities of Japanese canned provisions and condiments are also being sold at prices much below those of goods from China, and Chinese shops are alleged to be retelling them under false Chinese labels.—Reuter.

N.S.W. LABOUR PARTY'S NEW MOVE

Sydney, Sept. 7. A new move to make Mr. J. T. Lang, former Premier and Treasurer of New South Wales, the leader of a united Labour Party in Federal politics is on foot.

However, according to reports in circulation to-day, it is unlikely that he will enter Federal politics at the next General Election.—Reuter.

HOME FOOTBALL: FACTS, FIGURES AND FORECAST

LAST SATURDAY'S SAD EXPERIENCE

ARE BAD DAYS AHEAD OF THE ARSENAL?

CLASSIC DUEL ANTICIPATED WITH SPURS THIS WEEK

(By "The Pilgrim").

With a fresh batch of fixtures to hand and the sad experience of last Saturday to guide them, partisans will be weighing up club prospects in the coming games with a new outlook.

Manchester City—or was it Arsenal who caused the heartache at Highbury—are going great guns. The Arsenal, I am often told, are sure to topple from their pinnacle, but when it will be no one dare suggest. It is not doubted, however, that they will go through their bad time.

It is terribly difficult to live at the top of the world. In fact, through all the years of the League I think only Aston Villa can be said to have consistently maintained top-of-the-table form.

During the past seven years, since the coming of Mr. Herbert Chapman to Highbury, the Arsenal have been amazingly successful. Not only have they been in three Cup finals, winning once, but they have scored more points in the League than any other club.

Their total is 346, three more than Sheffield Wednesday and four more than Aston Villa. Huddersfield are fourth on the list with 327 to their credit.

SPURS' HIGH HOPES.

Now they have to face the Spurs, red hot from the kick-off to disprove the "flash-in-the-pan" whisper that were bound to greet their cyclonic entry to First Division football.

The popularity of the side has never been so great as now. They have a larger following than at any time in their history, though the present team in my opinion does not equal that in which Cantrell, Bliss, and Tommy Clay figured so prominently when the 'Spurs won the Cup.

The Spurs have a wonderful opportunity to regain their position in the game, and if they can achieve a fair measure of success the crowds will rush to the White Hart Lane ground as never before.

The officials have exercised great patience in piloting the club back to the First Division, and they may be left to consolidate their position. I have no doubt, however, that supporters of the team would have been better pleased if a bolder policy had been adopted—if all the players necessary to offer an immediate challenge to the Arsenal had been obtained.

All the same I fancy that the Arsenal will totter before the all-conquering leaders of the senior division though as a coupon bet, the match would best be left out.

Derby County are retrieving their position and boldly took a point from Newcastle on the cupholders own ground.

The Wolves, for whom I forecast an early recovery were overwhelmed by Sunderland's young eleven (though three of the goals against them resulted from mistakes) and West Bromwich whose beautiful style was a feature of last season's football were helpless against Everton. Chelsea are consistently bad and a radical revision of methods and personnel is their only hope in my opinion.

NEWCASTLE AND BIG TRANSFER FEES

REFUSE TO BE "BLED WHITE"

More than once last season it was suggested that Newcastle United were about to pay an extravagant sum for a player. I remember it was whispered that they had offered £12,000 for English, the Rangers' centre forward, who has recently joined Liverpool—but not for £12,000.

The five-figure transfer fee may come back, but not until there is another boom. I believe the highest sum paid for a player last season was £5,500.

Meanwhile, Newcastle United have definitely decided that they are not going to be "bled white." More than once they have paid big sums without getting adequate reward, and I am sure the directors have not forgotten—it was only about three years ago—that they had to provide money out of their own pockets for the players' wages.

I do not think Mr. Andrew Cunningham, the manager, will encourage a spending policy. "In these days," he has told me, "we can't afford to pay big fees and in our present position I prefer to get young players and train them ourselves."

Fortunately, the club are well enough placed to be able to do this. That is to say they have no urgent need and they can wait for their youths to develop. They have a dozen or more on the staff and I believe some of them are very promising.

But the play last season suggested that another centre forward would have been very useful and J. Kelly, from Burnley, has been signed on. The need for a goal-getting leader still remains. Allen is, of course, still at St. James's Park, and with all the other old players I expect the side will be much as usual.

Mr. Cunningham has formed new ideas as to how the modern game should be played. I agree that the centre forward-to-day is little better than a chopping block, but if he is to fall back and the two inside men are to go right up, at once getting rid of the W formation. I doubt whether the defensive system can be maintained.

VILLA FEARS DISPELLED.

There was a period last season when one began to be afraid about Aston Villa. Everything seemed to go gravely wrong from the time of their Cup tie with Bradford

City, and the demand for new and younger players appeared to be justified. Yet although they won only eight of their last seventeen matches they finished as runners-up for the championship.

Truly they must have had a deal in hand as compared with their rivals, and the appointment of a team manager does not seem so urgent after all.

When Mr. Leslie Knighton left Birmingham it was suggested that Billy Walker would succeed him. A Birmingham director laughed at the idea. "Walker," he said, "will play for at least two seasons longer for the Villa." And I do not think the time has come when they can do without his generalship. But with Dix and all the other clever forwards available, it should be possible to give him a rest when he may require it.

Despite many departures Birmingham are strong forward. Additions are Gore, an outside-left of Chesterfield, and Pearson, an inside-forward from Grantham but the outstanding recruit is Frank McGurk, of the Clyde. Many regarded him last year as Scotland's best man in his position, outside-right.

He did not miss a single match for practically two seasons, and last season scored 18 goals in the League and 6 in Cup ties, all from outside-right. He is 23 years old, 5ft. 7in. in height, weighs 11st. 6lb. and is a fast and tricky two-footed player.

All last season's regular forwards, with the exception of the Briggs, are available and the club has no difficulty in getting a useful front line, the basis of which is McGurk, Grosvenor, Bradford or Haywood, Gregg and Curtis.

HEARTS DROP 1ST POINT

100 PER CENT. RECORD GOES

London, Sept. 12. Queen's Park, the gallant team which is offering such a determined challenge to the hitherto accepted superiority of the Rangers, Motherwell and Celtic, lost their 100 per cent. record to-day, when they were forced to a draw on their own ground by Hearts.

Both teams scored once. —R.M.

ABOUT THE AMATEURS

THE CORINTHIANS PATCH UP A QUARREL

MANY CHANGES IN LEADING TEAMS

Now a word on Amateur football.

After four seasons of aloofness, sometimes bordering on open hostility, an entente between the Corinthians and the Casuals has been effected again, and the two famous Old Boy clubs are working together in closer harmony than ever before.

A joint selection committee, composed of three Corinthians, G. N. Foster, A. G. Doggart and J. G. Stevenson, and three Casuals, F. G. Smith, T. Ross and F. G. I. Packington, will function each week.

A circular letter has been sent out to all the Corinthian players asking them to become members of the Casuals, so that they will be able to assist the Isthmian club in important matches.

So far as amateur football is concerned, the season promises to be one of the most successful in the history of the game.

Every League, except the Isthmian and Athenian has been strengthened by new clubs.

No amateur player of any note except Gibson, the Kingstonian inside right, has joined the professional ranks, and every club has secured promising new talent.

In trial matches over 200 new men were tested, and never has the outlook for the leading organisations been so bright.

CLOSE SEASON CHANGES.

Many changes have been made during the close season.

Leedsworth Town and Waterloos bring new methods to the Premier Division of the Spartan League, and Hoxton Manor and Shepherds Bush add strength to the First Division, in which Aylesbury United and Apsley will play this season.

Leavesden M.H., Post Office Engineers, and Streatham Town will immensely improve the Premier Division of the London League, and Northmet, the successful Northern Suburban League team of last season, will strengthen what is likely to prove the best First Division of the London League has had for several years.

The two outstanding clubs of last season, Kingstonian and Dulwich Hamlet, will again be very much in the limelight.

H. Benka has signed amateur forms for Crystal Palace, but with the evergreen Edgar Kail he will again regularly assist Dulwich Hamlet.

The Amateur Cup holders, Kingstonian, will miss F. Russell, who has retired, and Gibson, but the "Ks" expect to find the required new back and inside right in their trial match next Saturday.

After their wonderful advance of last season, I am sorry to learn that Brentwood and Warley are losing R. and K. Mayes to Barking. Another loss to Spartan League football is J. Morrison, Callenders Athletic scoring centre-forward, who has joined the staff of Tottenham Hotspur.

The really big "captures" so far have been made by Ilford and Wimbledon.

L. Young, the Colchester Town centre half-back has joined Ilford, and W. Truman and S. Smith are to assist Wimbledon. Truman played consistently well for Swindon last season, and Smith was equally good in A.F.A. matches.

Wimbledon, who had a lot of trouble with their defence last year, should be strong in that department during 1933-34, as a player with will of Park Royal, W. Tabbutt, and J. Goddard will be available.

Striking picture taken during the Chelsea trial match. It shows Callagher, Chelsea's famous forward in a duel with the goalkeeper. Callagher was injured in this match.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S WHAT

Pithy Pars Cleaned From a Number of Headquarters

(By "The Pilgrim").

STOCKPORT County tried fifteen new players in the first practice match at Edgeley Park. Among those to show special promise were two young full-backs, Angus, a junior from South Shields, and Rothwell, an amateur from Heaton Mersey.

IT was thought that Blackpool and Bolton Wanderers, the rejects from the First Division of 1932-33, would most likely set the pace, but personally I do not think that at all probable.

As the teams are constructed at present they are no doubt "fair to middling" when playing at home, but when away only Bolton seem to have sufficient "guts" to progress very satisfactorily.

BUT my view is that one must seek further than those luckless Lancastrians for the clubs likely to do the damage, and I like the look of Bradford even better than I did last season.

The many new additions to the Park Avenue register should strengthen the side materially, especially as Mr. Clud Ingram has got a bit more youth to call upon.

WITH the erection of the new double-decker stand for 10,000 people at the Osaston-road end of the ground holding capacity will be approximately 40,000," says Mr. Geo. Jobey, manager of Derby County. "The covered accommodation will be, at the lowest estimate, 30,000."

LINCOLN City have transferred their "star" Alan Hall, to Tottenham Hotspur, and I must advise you not to pick them too often, especially in away matches. All the same, the club has for years kept its head well above water, and will not sink this season.

MILLWALL seem to have acquired the art of how to bring games to a draw. At home and away their defence is really good, though I am afraid I cannot say the same for the forward line.

BLENKINSOP shows every sign of having made a complete recovery, and that is excellent news, for in recent years no player has been so completely out of the game. I have yet to see him, excepted last season, employed.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

The senior member of "The Man from Toronto" cast, the joyous Gainsborough picture now released by Ideal, is, of course, the veteran Fred Kerr, who is now in his 74th year.

Kerr takes the role of Bunston, a lawyer-executor, whose task is to convince Jessie Matthews that she would be doing the right thing by accepting the conditions of a curious will, and marry a man from Toronto, whom she has never seen, Jessie naturally flubs, especially as she has overheard on the telephone an uncomplimentary reference from the gentleman whose heart and land (and legacy!) she is expected to share. It all works out to everybody's satisfaction, but many and diverting cross-purposes insert themselves into the warp and woof of this quaint romance.

A press correspondent reminds us that, after putting in a mere matter of 48 years on the stage, Fred Kerr went to Hollywood and scored an immediate success as Ronald Colman's father in "The Devil To Pay" and followed it up with other films, "Waterloo Bridge" among them. His performance in "The Man from Toronto" coming on Thursday at the King's Theatre, is masterly and it is a pleasure to watch his delineation of a role that fits him like the proverbial glove.

"King of the Jungle"

Excitement runs high in the new film which opens on Friday at the Queen's Theatre for "King of the Jungle" is the story of a real wild man—a boy brought up from early childhood by a pack of lions. And, although the story deals with the taming of the lion man, it glorifies the of a beautiful woman, it glorifies the jungle beasts in their native setting, and builds a narrative of primitive power.

The role of the Lion Man is in the hands of a newcomer, Buster Crabbe, swimming champion of international renown, and is played by him remarkably well. The magnificent physique of the young athlete was originally responsible for his selection for the important role.

Frances Dee, who is one of the most promising of Hollywood's younger group of embryo stars, gives a great deal of charm to the role of Ann Rogers, young school teacher and the only person who can handle the Lion Man when he is captured and brought to America as a circus performer.

"Hell's House"

"Hell's House" a human symphony for all ages, is the picture now showing at the Central Theatre with Junior Durkin, Pat O'Brien, Bette Davis, Junior Coghlan, Emma Dunn, Charles Grapewin, Mary Alden and many other screen players.

As a story "Hell's House" is natural and human. It could happen to any boy and does to many. There are dramatic highlights that bring a tear, but again there are situations that cause hearty laughter. There are problems that bother boys of this age and which provide laughs for the grown-ups who have troubles of greater propensity to cope with daily.

Howard Higgin directed "Hell's House" for B. F. Zeldman Production. Paul Ganssler wrote the screen play. "It's Great to be Alive."

There are an even hundred of beautiful girls in Hollywood, says Sunny

Lee, specialist in female beauty, after interviewing 10,000 girls in the movie capital.

"By beautiful, you mean the kind of girl who, when she appears on the scene you just don't see anything else?" Lee asked. "Let's see. Well, not more than a hundred."

"I wouldn't even tell you that but I've just paid my insurance premiums and if I'm torn limb from limb, the widow Lee and little Patricia will be provided for."

More than a thousand beauties appear in the musical comedy "It's Great to Be Alive," now at the King's Theatre in which Fox is introducing Raul Rouillon, South American stage idol, as a star on the American screen.

"Women Who Play"

A sparkling comedy of modern manners, with a daring and original plot, is "Women Who Play," a Paramount British Production which opens to-day at the Queen's Theatre. It is a screen version of Frederick Lonsdale's brilliant stage success, "Spring Cleaning," and Lonsdale's scintillating wit has been preserved intact in the dialogue. A Lonsdale comedy is always a splendid vehicle for polished acting, and "Women Who Play" has one of the most imposing casts ever assembled for a British picture. Mary Newcomb, Benita Hume, George Barrard, Joan Barry and Barry Jones are seen in featured roles. Edmund Breton, Gerard Lyloy, Sylvia Leale, Peter Evan Thomas, Mary Hamilton and Frank Lacy are other members of the fine cast.

The story deals with the desperate means taken by Richard Sonca (George Barrard), a successful novelist, to save his wife, Margaret (Benita Hume), from a set of worthless triflers, who pose as her friends, and who, he fears, will inevitably charlatan. There is also the fact, ignored by those who think the whole world to be sane and civilised, that many of the tribes consider to this day that to have killed a white man is a short cut to immortality.

WORTHY FIGHTERS.

These tribes should be considered half as children, half as religious maniacs. They are generally admired for their courage, their loyalty (for the major part of the year), and their skill as fighting men. There is no man who has come in contact with the average tribesman who does not consider him a worthy fighter, a man's man. But he can never get out of his head the idea that attack is a summer pastime.

drag her down to their level. Among these people with too much money and too little to do, are Ernest Steels (Barry Jones), an attractive philanthropist, who starts a flirtation with Margaret then finds that he has fallen in love with her; Fay (Joan Barry), a disillusioned "bright young thing" who still retains some decent feelings; Archie Wells (Edmund Breton), a rake who, while conducting an affair with his friend's wife, carries on with the chorus girls, whose shows he finances, and Bobby (Gerard Lyloy), an effeminate youth who goes into raptures over the colours of lampshades.

After a vain appeal to Margaret to give up associating with these decadents, Richard persuades Mona (Mary Newcomb), an actress whose work he admires, to pose as a woman of the streets, and then introduces her as a guest at his wife's dinner party. This daring ruse succeeds in its object, but there are some bitter quarrels, and hard lessons to be learned on both sides before the final happy reconciliation of husband and wife.

Backward Children
Often Have Worms.

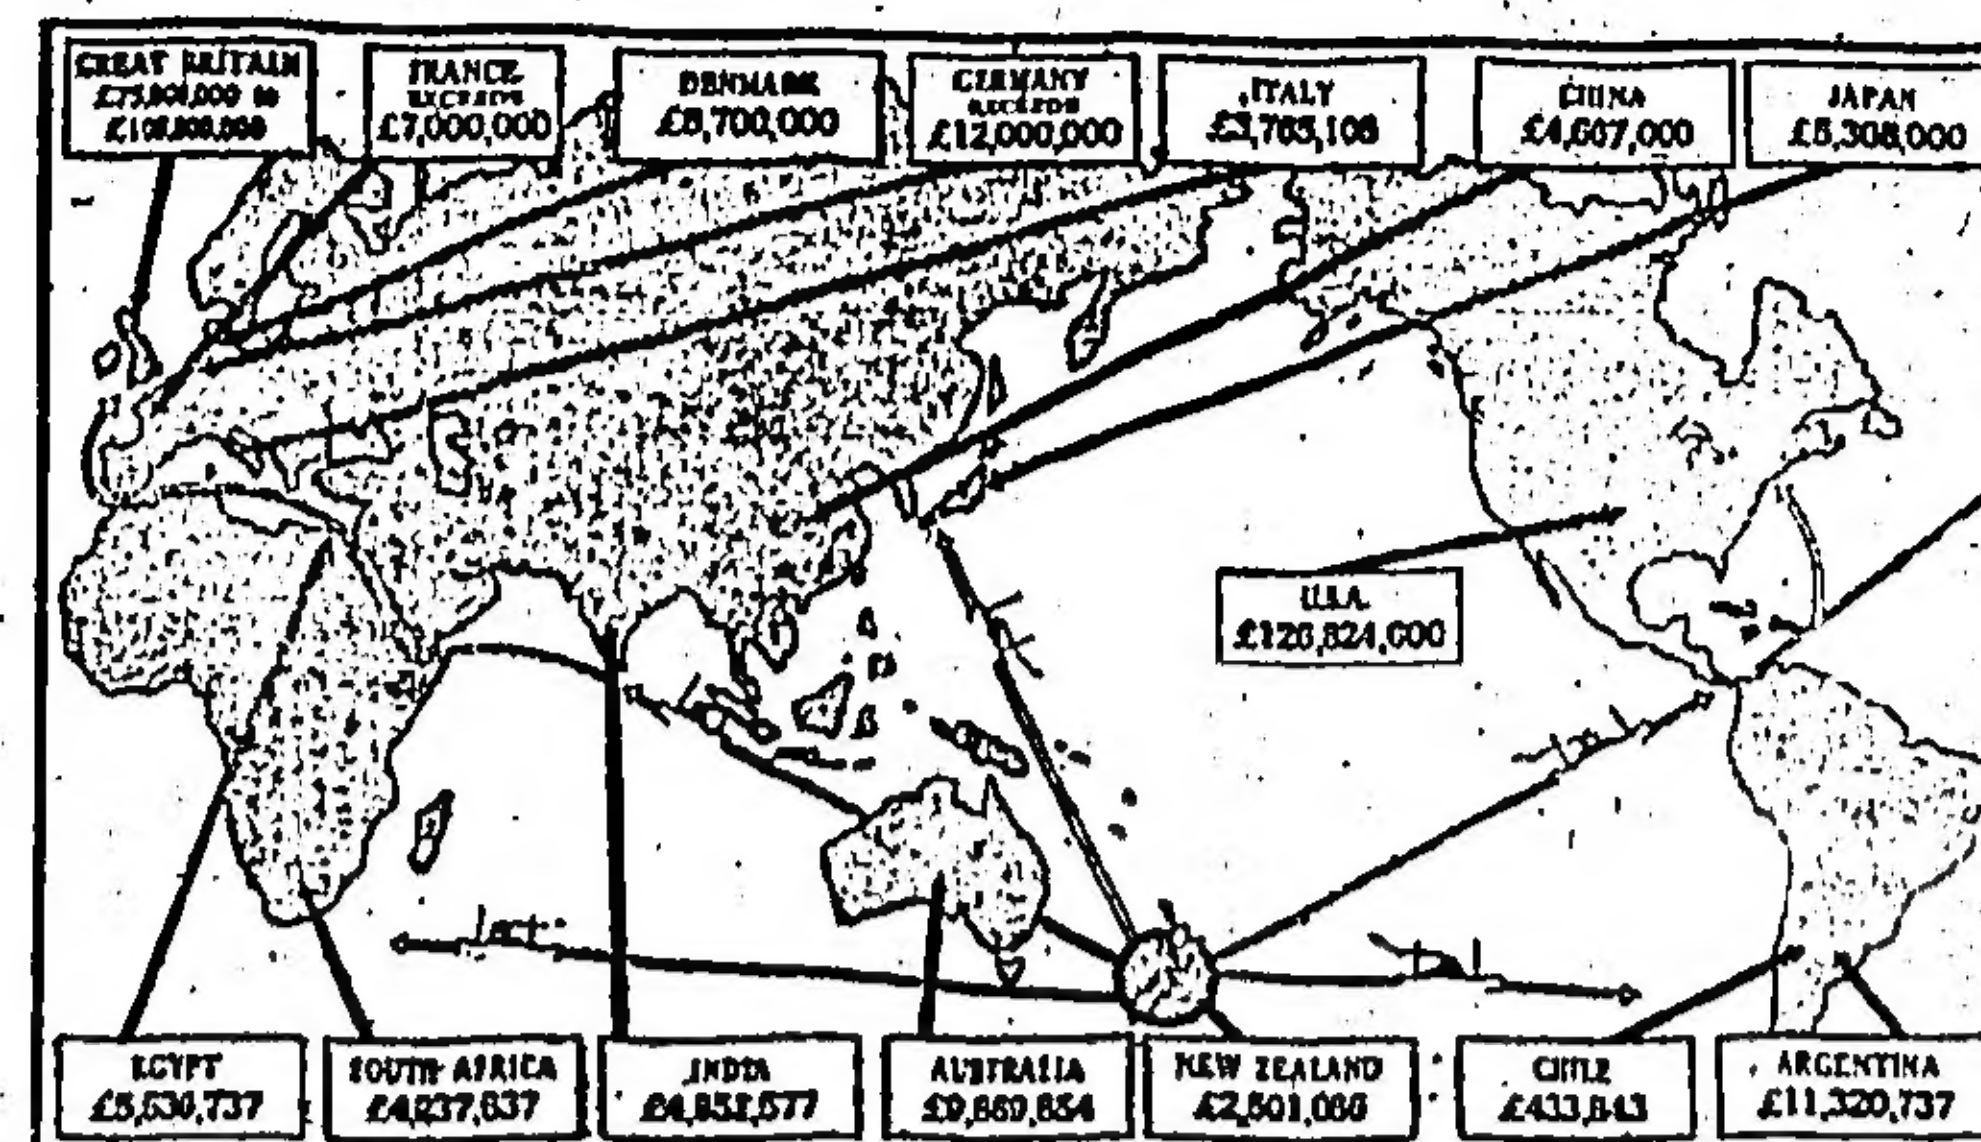

Many children suffer from worms for a long time before parents suspect this common cause of malnutrition and retarded growth.

Babies and young children who are not putting on the normal amount of weight often derive the most gratifying benefits from a few doses of Baby's Own Tablets. Countless cases are on record in which the first dose of Baby's Own Tablets has expelled worms and thereafter the little one's progress has been rapid.

Baby's Own Tablets have a wide application in children's ailments. They were designed specifically for this purpose by a doctor specialising in children's ailments who realised the necessity for a handy, all-round health-corrective which parents could use with complete confidence. The tablets are gently laxative, cleanse the whole of the food tract and have the added advantage of being pleasant to taste and appearance. For children's and babies' stomach and bowel troubles, indigestion, constipation, flatulence, cramp, colic, convulsions, feverishness, colds, worms, diarrhoea, "Baby's Own" are rapidly curative. During teething they are a real godsend, easing pain and thus enabling baby to sleep. Guaranteed to contain no opiates or harmful drugs. Baby's Own Tablets are absolutely safe and harmless. Remember—it's a doctor's prescription—proved eminently successful. The most exacting parents use Baby's Own Tablets with complete confidence.

(The Map Gives Figures of Annual Imports)

MORE than £505,000,000 of softwoods are required annually by 15 of the world's principal timber-consuming countries.

Owing to the very low rate of replenishment . . . the world faces a sharp timber famine.

Afforestation is the answer . . . and it will prove profitable to those who invest in it.

Here is the afforestation investment opportunity offered to you by N. Z. Perpetual Forests, Ltd.:

For every £30 invested, you become owner of a freehold acre of land, fully planted with pine trees, the title to which is held by The Australasian Bondholders' Trust Co., Ltd., Trustee for Investors. BETTER TRADE

Board of Trade figures issued to-day make very satisfactory reading. Exports in August were more than £3,000,000 better than in August, 1932, and more than a million sterling better than during July. Imports of raw materials also show a substantial rise, reflecting the increasing activity in manufacturing centres. The brightest feature of the report is that the improvement is not confined to a few trades but is well spread over industry generally. The figures themselves may suggest at first sight that the improvement is small, but the most significant fact is that they follow upon a period of seven months during which both imports and exports were considerably down as compared with the trade in the corresponding period of last year. Moreover, the improvement concerns some, at least, of the trades where unemployment has been heaviest and where a recovery is most welcome and most promising for the future. Iron and steel manufacture, engineering, and shipbuilding and ship repairing are all industrial groups which show signs of recovering, and in which a recovery means much to the national economy and the improvement has persisted in spite of the heavy taxation, in spite of the absence of any improvement in world trade, or of any decline in the obstacles which have caused such trade to dwindle so rapidly, and at a moment when money has become so difficult to lend that the Government recently succeeded in borrowing on short term at a quarter per cent. Two deductions should be made from the fact that so many features survive from the time when the depression was deepening. The first is that the causes of the improvement lie beneath the surface. There can be little doubt that among them must be numbered, on the one hand, a general conviction that the policy of the present Government, though far from immune to criticism, has constructed a basis of improvement, may develop into a real stimulation of improvement, and, at the very worst, will not impede improvement by wild extravagance in theory or in practice. To this must be added, on the other hand, the effect of the unattractiveness of having one's pocket picked by the Government of spending by

NOTES OF THE DAY

TYPHOON WARNINGS

There seems, at first sight, some justification for the complaint registered yesterday by a correspondent concerning the short warning given by the Observatory of Monday's typhoon. The suggestion was that the typhoon would have been upon us, causing havoc among local shipping had fortune so directed its course, before preparations to meet it could have been completed. The contention falls to the ground, however, in the face of the plain facts that it did not come close until at 5 p.m. and that the disturbance was of comparatively slight intensity. These small affairs cause the greatest trouble. Had it been a severe typhoon, its presence would have been detected at least twenty-four hours earlier and the signals would probably have been up on Sunday. But as late as Sunday evening, the Pratas, in the best position to form conclusions, could only say that a small low centre over the western part of the Balintang Channel appeared to be forming as a typhoon somewhere to the south-east. On Monday morning at six a.m., the depression had passed over the Pratas and the station's earlier suspicions had been confirmed. The observations taken showed that the depression had not seriously developed and Hongkong's own experience indicated that it was an extremely mild affair, so mild in fact that it failed to produce a gale here though it passed very close.

THE SALIENT POINT

The salient point is that the disturbance when in the vicinity of the Colony scarcely warranted the description of a typhoon. It was of recent formation and of very small area, still in the incipient stage. As Mr. Jeffries, the Director of the Royal Observatory says, there were faint indications of its presence about 400 miles away on Sunday afternoon, but we may be certain that if shipping in the Colony had been disorganised on the strength of the data then available, the shipping companies would have been vigorous in complaint. As it was, the disturbance behaved peculiarly, getting off the mark to a fast pace and then slowing down to unusually slow progress. Normal calculations were insufficient to govern the situation, hence there is plenty of scope for guesswork on what might have happened had the typhoon conducted a different performance. Clearly, however, an incursion into what might have been is a vain pursuit.

SILVER OUTLOOK

Considered opinion on the silver agreement concluded at the World Economic Conference finds in it much that is highly unsatisfactory. The Financial News, for instance, remarks that India is left free to unload rather more silver than usual, adding that since the passing of the India Currency Act the Government of India has sold (up to March 31) 151,158,512 fine ounces, or an annual average of little more than 25,000,000 and last year sold only 23,500,000. Under the new agreement, the Government may sell in any one year over twice that quantity, and on the average of the four years may sell 35,000,000 ounces per annum. The volume of permitted sale is rather larger than any actual selling that expert opinion would have expected, in the absence of an agreement, so long as prices remain low; and in these circumstances it is quite certain that, as in the past, the first hint of appreciable Government sales will still suffice to frighten all but the most hardened "bulls" of silver.

private persons. The second deduction is that no effort must be relaxed to remove those causes which might bring the improvement to a stop. The improvement must be an encouragement to further efforts; not an excuse for stagnation upon the dangerous assumption that the Government will not right themselves.

BOMBING OVER THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER

By ROLAND WILD

TWO mechanics, almost obscured by their greasy aprons, are sitting on the tail-end of a mass bomber, bending forward and against the gale of hot air and sand driven by the whirling propeller as the pilot warms up. The temperature is nearing 110 in the shade, and though a few moments before, we were longing for a breath of air, now that we have got it we find it rather worse than the calm sultriness of the morning. We are dressed in shorts, shirts, and pith helmet-cum-bullet-proof tin-hats, and carry parachutes. It is one hour after dawn, and already the faint mist has cleared from the surrounding hills. The pilot yells, and we are off, circling over the brown landing ground, heading towards the hills of the Khyber.

CEASELESS VIGILANCE.

My pilot, when I had the privilege as a special correspondent of The Daily Mail of flying all over the tribal territory which is now the scene of extensive operations in the North-West Frontier Province, was engaged on a reconnaissance. His duty was to observe the movements of the tribes, the disposition of their cattle, and to discover if the caves were once more inhabited after a general exodus towards higher ground.

The same procedure is being carried out now, though more serious business is afoot. Whereas as my pilot, in one of the intervals between inter-tribal warfare, was armed only with a camera, he is now weighed down with ten 20lb. bombs. But only the ceaseless watch over the no-man's-land to either side of the Khyber Pass, undertaken by the Royal Air Force during the last few years, enables our flyers in these times of trouble to interpret the signs from the air.

TELL-TALE PHOTOGRAPHS.

As we soared over the hills my pilot passed back notes describing the villages over which we were passing. He swooped down on an irregular hill formation, and his pencilled note read: "See tracks outside caves." He was flattering me, for I could see no caves and spot, and the evidence provided by the photographs after being analysed by the ground staff, were enough to tell him exactly what movements were going on among the nomad tribes.

The unskilled eye can detect nothing. Very often even the practised eye misses the finer points of this new-style tracking. But after numerous experiments the ground staff of the North-West Frontier Air Force is able to decipher any changes from the pictures taken in the air.

They can tell whether the caves have been used within the previous 24 hours. They can tell whether cattle have been moved, and whether the inhabitants of those caves have removed all their possessions or have just decamped for the night. They can read from the signs whether there has been a jirga (tribal council) in the vicinity and can form a fair estimate of the number of tribesmen who were there.

AIR FORCE'S FUNCTION.

The Air Force, during the present disturbance, have had to ed the usual preliminary procedure in attempting to clean up a mass movement towards belligerence. They dropped their warning messages, and were fired at ineffectively for their pains. This probably does not mean very much, for the tribesman at this time of year is quite liable to take a gesture of defiance at any visitor.

At the approach of an aeroplane, the moving tribesmen perform their celebrated act of making themselves invisible. But there are no secrets from the camera, and as soon as the negatives are back at the base the authorities are in a position to know exactly what proportion of the tribes remain defiant and how many have moved for their own safety.

That knowledge decides the destination of the bombs. The object of the Air Force is not to take life but to teach a lesson and to separate combatants. If the tribes show themselves stubborn after the first warning they are subjected to a frightening demonstration of accuracy from the air, but are seldom injured in their caves. This first attack usually has the required effect of getting them on the move.

NEVER YET FAILED.

If, however, they are still defiant, power can be shown by a spectacular demolition of some nearby tribal stronghold which has been verified as uninhabited. That last warning has never yet failed on the North-West Frontier. It has never yet been found necessary to take human life deliberately in order to discourage disobedience.

It must be remembered, however, that at certain periods the tribesman is in a peculiar state of mind. Towards the end of the hot weather, when all these disturbances occur, his hands are idle after the crops have been garnered, and he looks forward to leisure and relaxation. His fingers itch when he handles his rifle, for he has been brought up in the belief that the only real love for a strong man (himself) is warfare. Excuses come easily. His religion can provide half a dozen reasons why he should attack his neighbours, even if his love of loot is for the moment subdued.

FANATICAL TRIBESMEN.

Not so long ago, soon after I hurried back from Kabul after witnessing the beginning of the end of Amanullah, the tribesmen decided that Habibullah, one of the most bloodthirsty rascals who ever walked in a bloodthirsty country, was more or less a second Mahomed. That depraved and cruel tyrant was credited with most of the virtues known to the Afghan, the Mohmand, or the Halimzal. The tribes rushed to his support. And not until he was put to death in Kabul were they persuaded that perhaps, after all, he was not immortal.

This time, it is said to be a 12-years-old "Pretender," duped of the "Mad Fakir," who has inspired them to defiance of British aeroplanes. They are no doubt convinced in their hearts that true virtue lies in a foolhardy courage and sacrifice for the sake of this (Continued on Page 5.)

The Very Idea!

PYJAMA PARADES
By Eddie Kelly, P.I. Squared

WHILE we were munching a spot of afternoon tea yesterday with "Abigail," she told us about the M.C.L. gala at Repulse Bay next week.

There is, we understand, to be a beauty parade in pyjamas. Sort of beauty and the beach.

Personally we don't know what Hongkong's coming to. In our days the only time you wore pyjamas was when it was too hot to wear your woollen nightgown.

You've just got to visit our beaches nowadays to see that the idea of the modern miss is to give as much clothing as possible a miss.

Brevity is the soul of the lit of the bathing girl. They're Janizens with tears in their eyes.

Not that they're an eyesore. Far be it from us to criticise bathing costumes and pyjama parades.

Give our girls their due, they live up to their Tan Commandments.

Where we're concerned, we never go tanning unless we're in the nude for it. We never were keen on giving life-like imitations of liver-sausage.

This is the good old summer time, when the best place to do your sun-bathing is in a tub at home, surrounded by empty beer bottles.

But we go to the beaches on Sunday's, along with all our girl friends.

While the Church bells are pealing in Hongkong and Kowloon, the belles are peeling at Repulse Bay and Castle Peak.

Anyway, we will be along to the M.C.L. Fete on Wednesday next week.

You never can tell how we'll get on. Maybe, some of the girls in the pyjama parade will fall for us. Maybe we'll fall for them.

It's Fete, just fete!

THE ANSWER

The answer to a negro's prayer ("We needs rain, Lawd") Came down in torrents through the air.

("Not a sizzle-sizzle nor a drizzle-drizzle") And every true Barometer ("Open up de flood gates, Lawd") Changed rapidly from fair. So if a prayer will work the charm ("We needs rain, Lawd") an' we needs h't bad") The monsoon drought we could disarm.

("Wash us, Lawd") With prayers by the P.W.D. ("Wash us, wash us in de blood o' de Lamb, Lawd") If they could reach, through droughty skies such heights of piety.

FOR THE LOVE OF EVE
BY LUCY WALLING

of the times. Thus it was not long before he mentioned the market.
"I dropped around to the stock exchange this morning," he was saying. "Quite a little activity!"

"Was there?" Eve asked, hoping he would explain in detail.

"Yes," he answered, glad for an attentive audience. He named several stocks which had advanced and others which had shown a decline. Eve nodded, listening. She tried to imitate Dick's poker face when Reece mentioned Pure Soap, Inc.

"Pure Soap took a slide," he said authoritatively. "That will hit a lot of fellows. Pure Soap a popular number."

"When did all this happen?"
Eve asked, hoping she gave no indication of the concern she felt.

"Just before noon," he answered.

Eve noted that Dick and the men he was with were leaving. She sipped the strong, hot coffee slowly and ate her dessert without further comment. When she had finished she glanced at her watch and arose.

"I think I'll leave you," she said, slipping into her fur jacket before Reece could assist her. "I have an errand to do before going back to the office—and there is no need for you to hurry." She managed to smile at Mona. At the desk she signalled the waiter and paid her check.

Then she boarded a trolley to ride the 10 blocks to the bank.
The car seemed to be forever stopping for traffic lights. Finally it arrived at the square and impatiently Eve hurried out.

The usual calm atmosphere pervaded the stock and bond department of the bank. Eve asked for Mr. Brown but he was out. His assistant offered to help her.

"Pure Soap, Inc.—has it gone down?" she asked.

"Well, it dropped two points this morning," he answered calmly.
"But it's gone up again within the last hour. Just a minute and I'll get you the figures."

Eve's knees were weak and she sank gratefully into a chair. This was another angle of playing the market. Well, she was still safe.
But ought she sell now in case the stock might drop again?

The young man advised her to wait. Eve returned to her office slowly and thoughtfully.

Arlene was interested in Eve's account of the luncheon.

"I thought Mona was playing up to Reece at Fred's party last night," Arlene commented. "I felt sorry for Mr. Blinks. He's so nice.
And to think he fell for Mona, only

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

Why go on a rampage of bidding just because you hold a long solid major suit? When you need definite high card strength from partner in order to make game, it may be better to pass your hand originally when in first or second position, and you can then enter the bidding on a later round. The great trouble in opening such a hand originally may find you playing it at a slam when even game may be difficult.

This was clearly brought out in the following hand, which was recently played in a duplicate match. Several players opened South's hand with one spade and as a result, at several tables, they played the hand at a slam contract which was easily defeated, and even those who arrived at game experienced some trouble in making it. However, with proper bidding and good play the hand can be made.

♠ J-8-5-3	♠ 7-4
♥ Q-2	♥ J-9-8-
♦ A-10-6	♦ 7-6-5
♣ A-J-4-3	♣ Q-5
	♣ 8-6-2
♠ A-K-Q-9-6-2
♥ 10-3
♦ 9-8-7-2
♣ A-K

The Bidding.
The bidding should be South pass, West one club, North need get in no hurry to do anything about this and should pass. East would overcall with one heart, South bids one spade, West bids two diamonds, North makes a constructive response of two spades. East passes and South goes to three spades, while North carries the contract to four.

The Play.
The ace and king of hearts were immediately cashed by West, who shifted to the ten of clubs, South winning with the king. South then played six straight spade tricks, bearing down to the ace and ten of diamonds and the ace and jack of clubs in dummy. West was forced to bear down to the queen and nine of clubs and the king and jack of diamonds. East kept two diamonds and two hearts.

South now led the deuce of diamonds and when West was careless enough to play the jack, the dummy went up with the ace, immediately returning the ten of diamonds, throwing West in the lead and forcing him to lead away from his queen-nine of clubs.

However, if West goes right up with the king of diamonds, this will force North to win with the ace and all that he can do is to cash his ace of clubs.

Here we find a hand with plenty of quick tricks and good support from partner going down at four spades. It is this type of hand which proves that distribution is equally as important, if not more so, as high cards.

"SINCE the commencement of my career as a professional boxer I have tried many different tonics but results were disappointing. However, I was eventually advised by my Manager, Mr. Tan Ngoo Yeng, to try Phosferine, and I can testify that it has been of the greatest benefit to my training, and I recommend it to all engaged in athletic pursuits. PEKING GLACIS INCIDENT

AMERICAN MINISTER NOT TO PROTEST

Peking, Sept. 7.
Following an exchange of letters between the American and Japanese Legations, relative to the use of the glacis around the Legation Quarter as a bridge-path during military manoeuvres, the incident concerning Miss Emmeline Arguello, private secretary to Mr. Nelson T. Johnson, the U.S. Minister, and a Japanese soldier is considered closed.

Mr. Johnson is not going to protest against the request of the Japanese that all foreigners should refrain from riding manoeuvres by the Legation guards. The American Minister has replied to a Japanese letter setting forth the details of the affair that brought about the request.

Miss Arguello and several others were riding on the glacis on Monday morning when the Japanese guards began manoeuvres behind the Austrian Legation. One of the officers sent notes to all the riders, asking them to postpone their rides until the manoeuvres were over. All except Miss Arguello withdrew, according to the Japanese, but she rode through the formations a number of times and finally a Japanese soldier grasped the bridle of her horse. The letter said Miss Arguello struck the Japanese with a whip, which he grasped and threw away.

Among those who previously had withdrawn was Col. Benoit-Gurod, commandant of the French guard. The letter, which was written by Mr. Shichi Nakayama, detailing the incident and merely called attention to the "impropriety" of striking the soldier. The Japanese explained that there was no

TOKYO TEN-YEAR POLICY

JAPAN'S EMERGENCY PERIOD

Tokyo, Sept. 7.
Following the agreement on the necessity of national unity reached with Mr. Suzuki, president of the Seiyukai, Baron Wakatsuki, president of the Minseito, and Mr. Adachi, president of the National League, the Premier, Admiral Viscount and representatives of all parties in the House of Peers. The four Cabinet Ministers who have seats in the Upper House were also present.

The Premier reminded them that Japan was going through an emergency period both at home and abroad, declaring that the government was doing everything in its power to act up to the Imperial Rescript issued on March 27, when Japan withdrew from the League of Nations.

He said he sought further support and assistance from the Upper House to enable the nation to pull through the emergency period solidly and successfully and also to formulate and execute a national policy to be fixed so as not to be altered in the coming decade at least.

After the meeting the Premier told newspapermen that all parties in the Upper House had acceded to his request. He said he had told the Upper House that he approved many planks in the platform submitted to the Government by the Seiyukai.—Reuter.

intention to withdraw the courtesies of the glacis from Peking residents, but requested that American nationals be requested to refrain from riding through the troops during drill.

AUSTRALIA LACKS STAFF OFFICERS

NEED FOR TRAINED MEN

Sydney, Sept. 7.
"If the call to defend Australia went out to-morrow and we wanted 100,000 men at once, the sheer weight of their number would clog the machine, because we have not the trained staff officers to handle them," declared Colonel G. F. Murphy, the commander of the 18th battalion of the Australian Imperial Forces during the war, in an interview to-day.

"Our force," he added, "would be impotent and chaos would rule." Colonel Murphy saw service in Egypt, France and Belgium during the Great War, was wounded twice and was mentioned in despatches seven times. For his services he received the C.M.G. and the D.S.O. and bar. He is at present sheriff of the state of New South Wales and Deputy Marshal of the High Court of Australia.—Reuter.

MAYOR SHOT AT BY PHOTOGRAPHER

ALARMING INCIDENT IN NETHERLANDS

Amsterdam, Sept. 6.
An alarming incident took place to-day in the town of Muiden where, during a meeting of the municipal council, a photographer, sitting in the public gallery, suddenly drew a revolver and fired several shots, severely wounding the mayor, a councillor, and two others. The assailant, who for some time has suffered from the mania of being persecuted, was immediately arrested.

IRISH ELECTION IMMINENT

DE VALERA BREACH WITH LABOUR WIDENS

O'DUFFY BEGINS CAMPAIGN

Dublin, Sept. 13. Belief is growing that Mr. de Valera will soon be compelled to dissolve the Dail Eirann and call another general election.

The always shaky alliance between the de Valerites and the small Labour group in the Dail, whose influence has been greater than their numbers owing to the fact that they held the balance of power, is believed to be even more unstable and it is the general opinion that an election is imminent.

In anticipation of this development, General O'Duffy is beginning a month's organising campaign next week in preparation for the election battle.—Reuter.

UNITED IRELAND PROGRAMME

NEW RAIDS APPEALS FOR FUNDS

Dublin, Sept. 12. "A big organization drive for a united Ireland is now being begun in every parish in the Free State," says an appeal for funds issued by the new United Ireland Party in Dublin to-day.

The appeal adds "At any moment a General Election may give the people a chance to end their present condition of national calamity.—Reuter."

CURRENCY INFLATION DEMANDED

Meeting of U.S. Cotton Farmers

Colombia, S. Carolina, Sept. 13. Immediate currency inflation and expansion, the abolition of the progressing tax on cotton and other emergency steps were advocated by agricultural leaders at a mass meeting of farmers held here to-day.

The meet urged the Federal Administration immediately to fix the minimum price of cotton at fifteen cents a pound.

The farmers endorsed the plan to reduce next year's cotton acreage, as suggested by Mr. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, though they considered that it should be applied on the basis not upon the acreage basis.—Reuter.

NEW RAILWAY PLANNED

BETWEEN SUIYUAN AND HSINKIANG

Nanking, Sept. 12. The Nanking Ministry of Railways is taking up preparatory work in connection with the construction of a line between Suiyuan and Hsinkiang.

In view of its high importance in the development of communication in north-western China, the Ministry of Railways hopes to have it completed at an early date.

An engineering corps has been organized to carry out the preliminary survey for the line.—Central News Agency.

NORMAN DAVIS'S ACTIVITIES

Disarmament Talks in England

London, Sept. 12. Since his talks on disarmament problems with the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, last week, Mr. Norman Davis, the chief United States delegate to the Disarmament Conference, has been spending a golfing holiday in Kent. He is returning to London this week to discuss certain points with the President of the Conference, Mr. Arthur Henderson.—British Wire-less.

NEW ALIGNMENT IN EUROPE

FRANCO-RUSSIAN FRIENDSHIP

AIR MINISTER'S VISIT

Paris, Sept. 13. Hundreds of people, including the Soviet Air Attache, cheered as M. Pierre Cot, the Air Minister, waved farewell on his departure for Moscow by air at 4.40 p.m. yesterday.

The other two planes which are accompanying M. Cot, left Paris earlier, but all three will reach Moscow together.

The French visit comes about as the result of Russia's desire to seek new friends as a consequence of Hitler's anti-Communist regime, which has broken off Russo-German ties.

Russia especially desires French assistance, instead of German, in reorganising their civil and military aviation services.

Owing to the French alliance with the Little Entente, the French rapprochement with Russia should entail a more peaceful atmosphere in Eastern Europe.—Reuter.

TUBE

FALL UNDER TRAIN

HEIR TO MARQUIS OF LANSDOWNE

ONLY NINETEEN YEARS OLD

London, Sept. 12. The nineteen-years-old Earl of Kerry, eldest son and heir of the Marquis of Lansdowne, was the victim of a terrible accident in London to-night.

The young Earl fell from the platform at a tube station as a train was rushing through and was killed instantly.

The first two carriages ran over his body.

It is thought that he was standing too close to the edge of the platform and was seized by giddiness as the tube train approached.

In 1928, when he was only fifteen years of age, the Earl survived a succession of illnesses including a serious attack of typhoid.

BRILLIANT YOUTH.

He was described as an exceptionally brilliant youth. He had just returned from a tour of Germany, arriving in London this morning. He was due to rejoin his family at Derreen, Kenmare, Co. Kerry in Ireland to-morrow.

The Earl of Kerry was born in October, 1913, the eldest son of the sixth Marquess of Lansdowne, who succeeded to the title in 1927, and who has two other sons and two daughters.—Reuter.

The bridegroom was Liu Taiwen, who hails from Kiangsu, and who is a graduate of the London School of Economics.

The bride, Miss Chang Hsuying, is from Kiangsu, and is an art student visiting London.

The distinguished Chinese painter, Peon Hsu, performed the ceremony and the best man was Lieutenant Wang Ko-tsun, who has just passed out from Sandhurst Military College.—Reuter.

DEATH OF NOTED LONDON DRAMATIST

MR. ALFRED SUTRO PASSES AWAY

PNEUMONIA VICTIM

BROTHER OF LADY READING

(Our Own Correspondent).

(By Telegram Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1931. Received September 12, 12.21 p.m.)

London, Sept. 13. The death has occurred in his seventieth year of Mr. Alfred Sutro, the famous British dramatist and translator of Maeterlinck's plays.

Born in 1863 and educated at the City of London School and in Brussels, he started on a journalistic career in London at a time when he said later in his newspapers and theatres were run by their own proprietors—a time of persons and not of companies when "big business" was in its infancy.

Sutro wrote on many subjects, but had a strong leaning towards the stage. Among the prominent journalistic figures of the day whom he met was Massingham, then the brilliant editor of the Daily Chronicle.

FAMOUS FRIENDS.

At Massingham's dinner table, Sutro made the acquaintance of two men who became famous. One was Mr. Lloyd George, then a young solicitor fresh from triumphant encounters with Joseph Chamberlain in the Commons. The other was Mr. George Bernard Shaw, who, not yet having produced a play, was known chiefly as a clever dramatic critic and a witty speaker at meetings of the Fabian Society.

PLAY-WRITING.

Sutro's introduction to writing for the stage was unfortunate. In 1894, he was engaged by George Meredith to aid him in adapting his famous story "The Egoist" for the theatre. He worked hard on the task, but always had to give way to Meredith and the result showed that the latter was no dramatist. The play was never produced.

Sutro then tried his own hand at play-writing and with great success. "The Cave of Illusion" was produced in 1900 and was followed by "Women in Love," "Eight Studies in Sentiment," "The Foolish Virgins," "The Walls of Jericho" and others.

After his highly successful renderings of Maeterlinck's plays he returned to original work and wrote among others "John Gayde's Honour," "The Builder of Bridges," "The Two Virtues" and "The Fire Screen." During the war he held a responsible post in the Intelligence Department and in 1918 was awarded the O.B.E. In the same year his "Uncle Anthony" was produced and in 1920 "The Laughing Lady" and "The Heart." "Living with a Heart" and "The Heart" and other plays.

The outstanding feature of his work was the individuality of the characters he created in his plays.

JAPANESE ARRESTED

LATEST SOVIET BORDER INCIDENT

CAUGHT BY GUARD

Harbin, Sept. 13.

The arrest of a Japanese official of the "Manchukuo" Customs Station, who apparently crossed into Soviet territory, is now the subject of an exchange of Notes between Manchukuo and Soviet officials.

The Japanese concerned is a Mr. Kameyama, employed by the Customs at Sulfenho.

He was apparently found walking in the hills to the east of Pogranichnaya by a contingent of Soviet frontier guards and immediately placed under arrest, on a suspicion of espionage.

The arrest took place on Sunday and it is suggested by the Manchurian authorities, who are negotiating for his release, that Mr. Kameyama was merely taking advantage of the Sunday holiday for a hiking expedition.—Reuter.

PEKING RAIDS

"REACTIONARIES" ARRESTED

Peking, Sept. 13.

The local gendarmerie have made a series of raids in the past few days on places in the city where secret political organisations were suspected to exist.

A large number of "reactionaries" were arrested. Thirty-eight of them, who are believed to be the ring-leaders, are being sent to Nanking for trial.—Central News Agency.

FUKIEN DRIVE

COMMUNISTS IN RETREAT

It was learned from a reliable source this morning that the Communists are moving to the westward from Yansing under pressure of the XIX th. Route Army. Although rumours have been to the contrary it is now stated that Shukow has never been reached by the Communists.

LADY READING'S BROTHER.

London, Sept. 13. Mr. Alfred Sutro, the dramatist, who passed away to-day following an attack of pneumonia, was a brother-in-law of the Marquis of Reading.—Reuter.

OWN LIFE

VICTIM OF NAZI PERSECUTION

PROFESSOR MAX ALSBERG

Berne, Sept. 12. To the long list of suicides which are directly attributable to recent developments in Germany has to be added that of the prominent German Jewish criminal lawyer, Professor Max Alsberg.

Despair, caused partly by bad health, but chiefly by the racial persecution which drove him into exile, he ended his life at Samaden to-day.

Professor Alsberg was fifty-six years of age and was among the most noted lawyers practising in the German criminal courts prior to the rise of the Hitler faction.

FORBIDDEN TO PRACTICE.

He acted as counsel for the defence in some of the most important trials in Germany since the war.

He was also the author of two plays.

He was driven into exile soon after the Nazis put an end to Parliamentary government. After their accession to power, he was forbidden to practice.—Reuter.

Moscow, Sept. 12. The two Polish airmen who left Warsaw yesterday in an attempt upon the world's long-distance flight record have crashed in Soviet territory.

Captain Lewoniewski died of the injuries he received. It is understood that Colonel Filipowicz, who is the Polish Director of Civil Aviation, was also badly hurt.—Reuter.

BRITAIN'S KEY POSITION

THE DISARMAMENT QUESTION

Paris, Sept. 7. L'Intransigeant declares in an editorial this morning that it is the widespread opinion that Great Britain holds the key position as regards world disarmament.

The journal expresses satisfaction that Britain is beginning to realise the "eternal peril" from Germany, and it adds: "Only when Great Britain explicitly refuses to permit German aggression against anybody will calm return to our minds."—Reuter.

CANZONERI FAILS

MOTHER SPURS ON ROSS IN BIG FIGHT

WHIRLWIND PACE DE VALERA BREACH

New York, Sept. 12. Barney Ross retained the Lightweight Boxing Championship of the World at Bologround to-night, when he outpointed Tony Canzoneri in a 15 round contest.

After the first few rounds, which were even, Ross, spurred on by his mother who was screaming encouragement from the ringside, hounded Canzoneri to the ropes and forced him to back round the ring in the eighth and ninth rounds.

The last round was fought at a whirlwind pace, each boxer striving for a knock-out.

In the 14th round, Ross shivered Canzoneri with a cannon-ball left lead to the heart, Canzoneri visibly wincing.

DYNAMITE BLOWS.

Ross, who packed some dynamite blows in his gloves, forced the fight and won in a canter.

Canzoneri lost three rounds for indulging in some allegedly low hitting, whereas Ross was much cleaner and a great hitter.

He wrought tremendous punishment with left hooks to the body, and although Canzoneri fought gamely, he was not the Tony of old. He tried hard to convince his judges that he was not sliding down the ladder, and danced coolly round his opponent, taunting him to a venomous attack.

The majority of ringsiders, despite the usual differences of opinion, agreed that Ross was an easy winner.

Kid Berg, who was introduced from the ring, will meet the winner.—Reuter.

YOUR CHILDREN Group Play Cures Selfish Children.

By Olive Robertis Barton

Jimmy replied to Roger's coaxing, "All right, I'll go over to your house for a little while if you'll promise to come to my house the rest of the time."

Roger promised, he was delighted to have the little boy who never would go anywhere, but stayed in his own yard.

They played at Roger's very nicely. Roger's mother was very kind. She heaped them with attention. She suggested they play upstairs when it was so hot outside—so they played upstairs. She brought in a plate of fresh little cakes and they ate the cakes. She gave them sister's new jigsaw puzzle and they worked at that.

A Polite Guest

Grandma came in and beamed. She asked Jimmy all about how his mama was and said he was growing and what a fine little boy his daddy had been. She said if Jimmy would take home a bouquet of

Adrienne Ames

White is always glamorous and the Hollywood stars know it! Adrienne Ames wears a pajama costume of corded white silk. The trousers are cut very full to allow comfort and the sleeves, with extremely full armholes, taper down neatly at her wrists. She adds the required note of contrast by a green taffeta bow, tied under her chin.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

MOVIE STARS SHINE IN BRILLIANT SATINS

Helen Vinson

Hollywood.—That glamorous fabric, satin, and plain materials with shiny, satin touches are quite in evidence in Hollywood these days.

Helen Vinson wore a lovely evening gown of flesh crepe trimmed with bands of deeper colour. The top of the frock was gathered, in flattering manner, on the high, pointed waistline.

Tiny shoulder cape sleeves, graduating down to form a jabot back were edged in the darker colour. The train was quite long.

Jean Parker wore a black satin dress with white ruching around the high neck and three-quarters length sleeves.

Dorothy Wilson had on a black satin evening gown with a broad green band draped over her back and shoulders.

Frances Dee chose a soft blue-green dress and topped it with a quilted satin jacket.

Her hat had a wide, drooping brim and the crown was gathered at the top.

EVENING STYLES

(From a Paris Correspondent.)

Where evening styles are concerned, there is not just one clear, blocked out silhouette. There are lots of them.

One of the five evening-dress silhouettes that stand out clearly is the modernised bouffant silhouette, with a slim bodice, and a skirt that billows out all round. Another is the silhouette culled from the 1900 fashion books—a silhouette that has sleeves, that is fitted, and tight down to the knees, where it begins to froth with ruffles.

A third is a slim, easy silhouette from top to skirt-hem, with a dust ruffle to make the skirt stand away from the ankles.

Fourth is the evening silhouette that has plenty of back fullness in the skirt, and is rather straight in front. Fifth on the leading-silhouette list, is the tube-and-flare-skirt silhouette, which has a straight, slightly-bloused bodice, a fitted hip-band, and a flared lower skirt. This one is familiar to girls who wore evening gowns in 1926.

The boyish silhouette appears in smart sports suits, and in gay ensembles. Suits that have jackets in checked, striped, or plaid material, and skirts of plain, or vice-versa, are very boyish, and, as has been already stated, their blouses are sports shirts, or boyish shirts waists.

Others are a bit selfish. They can dictate here. Away they must give in more or less to the others. Forcing them out only makes them worse.

Group games overcome this. A boy or girl learns to think of "sides" instead of self.

flowers she would go right down and cut them.

Auntie came in and said David, Roger's cousin, was coming. She wanted David to know Jimmie, so she had telephoned.

David arrived. He was a little older than the others and knew how to do everything. He showed Jimmie how to shoot a marble so it would touch another. He showed him how to whistle through his teeth.

Jimmie was polite to all the older people. He was polite to Roger and polite to David.

But after a while he said, "You boys come over to my house. I think I'll be going now."

Finally all three departed.

Jimmie's mother saw them coming. "I just knew it!" she declared. "Jimmie won't play any place else but here. What am I going to do with him?"

Once home Jimmie seemed to turn into another person. His voice was louder, his voice that of an office manager. He became lord of his own domain.

The Superior Air

Now it was his turn. The other boys couldn't play "Badminton" so he showed them how to hit the little feathery what-you-may-call-it with a bat so they would go over the net, and how to count. Pretty soon Jimmie got tired and said they were going to stop now and go up and see his new set of books. The boys were interested in the pictures but he gathered up the books and said, "Come down to the basement and see my wood and paint. I'm going to make a box."

The boys left after a while. Another boy called to him to go over and play. "You come over here," insisted Jimmie. The boy came and as usual things went Jimmie's way.

It is all very clear. Some children like to stay at home because they are under less strain, but

THE THEATRES

The senior member of "The Man from Toronto" cast, the Joyous Gainsborough picture now released by Ideal, is, of course, the veteran Fred Kerr, who is now in his 74th year. Kerr takes the role of Bunton, a lawyer-executor, whose task is to convince Jessie Matthews that she would do the right thing by accepting the conditions of a curious will, and marry a man from Toronto, whom she has never seen, Jessie naturally flirts, especially as she has overheard on the telephone an uncomplimentary reference from the gentleman whose heart and hand (and legacy!) she is expected to share. It all works out to everybody's satisfaction, but many and diverting cross-purposes insert themselves into the warp and woof of this quaint romance.

A press correspondent reminds us that, after putting in a mere matter of 48 years on the stage, Fred Kerr went to Hollywood and scored an immediate success as Ronald Colman's father in "The Devil to Pay," and followed it up with other films, "Waterloo Bridge" among them. His performance in "The Man from Toronto" coming on Thursday at the King's Theatre, is masterly and it is a pleasure to watch his delineation of a role that fits him like the proverbial glove.

"King of the Jungle"
Excitement runs high in the new film which opens on Friday at the Queen's Theatre for "King of the Jungle" is the story of a real wild man—a boy brought up from early childhood by a pack of lions. And, although the story deals with the taming of the Lion Man, at the hands of a beautiful woman, it glorifies the jungle beasts in their native setting, and builds a narrative of primitive power.

The role of the Lion Man is in the hands of a newcomer, Buster Crabbe, swimming champion of international renown, and is played by him remarkably well. The magnificent physique of the young athlete was originally responsible for his selection for the important role.

Frances Dee, who is one of the most promising of Hollywood's younger group of embryo stars, gives a great deal of charm to the role of Ann Rogers, young school teacher and the only person who can handle the Lion Man when he is captured and brought to America as a circus performer.

"Hell's House"
"Hell's House" a human symphony for all ages, is the picture now showing at the Central Theatre with Junior Darkin, Pat O'Brien, Betta Davis, Junior Coghlan, Emma Dunn, Charles Grapewin, Mary Alden and many other screen players.

As a story "Hell's House" is natural and human. It could happen to any boy and does to many. There are dramatic highlights that bring a tear, but again there are situations that cause hearty laughter. There are problems that bother boys of this age and which provide laughs for the grown ups who have troubles of greater propensity to cope with daily.

Howard Higin directed "Hell's House" for B. F. Zeldman Production. Paul Gangelin wrote the screen play. "It's Great to be Alive"

There are an even hundred of beautiful girls in Hollywood, says Sunny

Lee, specialist in female beauty, after interviewing 10,000 girls in the movie capital.

"By beautiful, you mean the kind of girl who, when she appears on the scene you just don't see anything else?" Lee asked. "Let's see. Well, not more than a hundred."

"I wouldn't even tell you that but I've just paid my insurance premiums and if I'm torn limb from limb, the widow Lee and little Patricia will be provided for."

More than a thousand beauties appear in the musical comedy "It's Great to be Alive," now at the King's Theatre in which Fox is introducing Raul Rouillon, South American stage idol, as a star on the American screen.

"Women Who Play"
A sparkling comedy of modern manners, with a daring and original plot, is "Women Who Play," a Paramount British Production which opens today at the Queen's Theatre. It is a screen version of Frederick Lonsdale's brilliant stage success, "Spring Cleaning," and Lonsdale's scintillating wit has been preserved intact in the dialogue. A Lonsdale comedy is always a splendid vehicle for polished acting, and "Women Who Play" has one of the most imposing casts ever assembled for a British picture.

Mary Newcomb, Benita Hume, George Barrand, Joan Barry and Barry Jones are seen in featured roles. Edmund Breon, Gerard Lyle, Sylvia Leslie, Peter Evan Thomas, Mary Hamilton and Frank Lacy are other members of the fine cast.

The story deals with the desperate means taken by Richard Soncs (George Barrand), a successful novelist, to save his wife, Margaret (Benita Hume), from a set of worthless trustees, who pose as her friends, and who, he fears, will inevitably charlatan. There is also the fact, ignored by those who think the whole world to be sane and civilised, that many of the tribes consider to this day that to have killed a white man is a short cut to immortality.

WORTHY FIGHTERS.

These tribes should be considered half as children, half as religious maniacs. They are generally admired for their courage, their loyalty (for the major part of the year), and their skill as fighting men. There is no man who has come in contact with the average tribesman who does not consider him a worthy fighter, a man's man. But he can never get out of his head the idea that attack is a summer pastime.

drag her down to their level. Among these people with too much money and too little to do, are Ernest Steels (Barry Jones), an attractive philanthropist, who starts a flirtation with Margaret then finds that he has fallen in love with her; Fay (Joan Barry), a disillusioned "bright young thing" who still retains some decent feelings; Archie Wills (Edmund Breon), a rake who, while conducting an affair with his friend's wife, carries on with the chorus girls, whose shows he finances, and Bobby (Gerard Lyle), an effeminate youth who goes into raptures over the colours of lampshades.

After a vain appeal to Margaret to give up associating with these decadents, Richard persuades Mona (Mary Newcomb), an actress whose work he admires, to pose as a woman of the streets, and then introduces her as a guest at his wife's dinner party. This daring ruse succeeds in its object, but there are some bitter quarrels, and hard lessons to be learned on both sides before the final happy reconciliation of husband and wife.

Backward Children
Often Have Worms.

Many children suffer from worms for a long time before parents suspect this common cause of malnutrition and retarded growth.

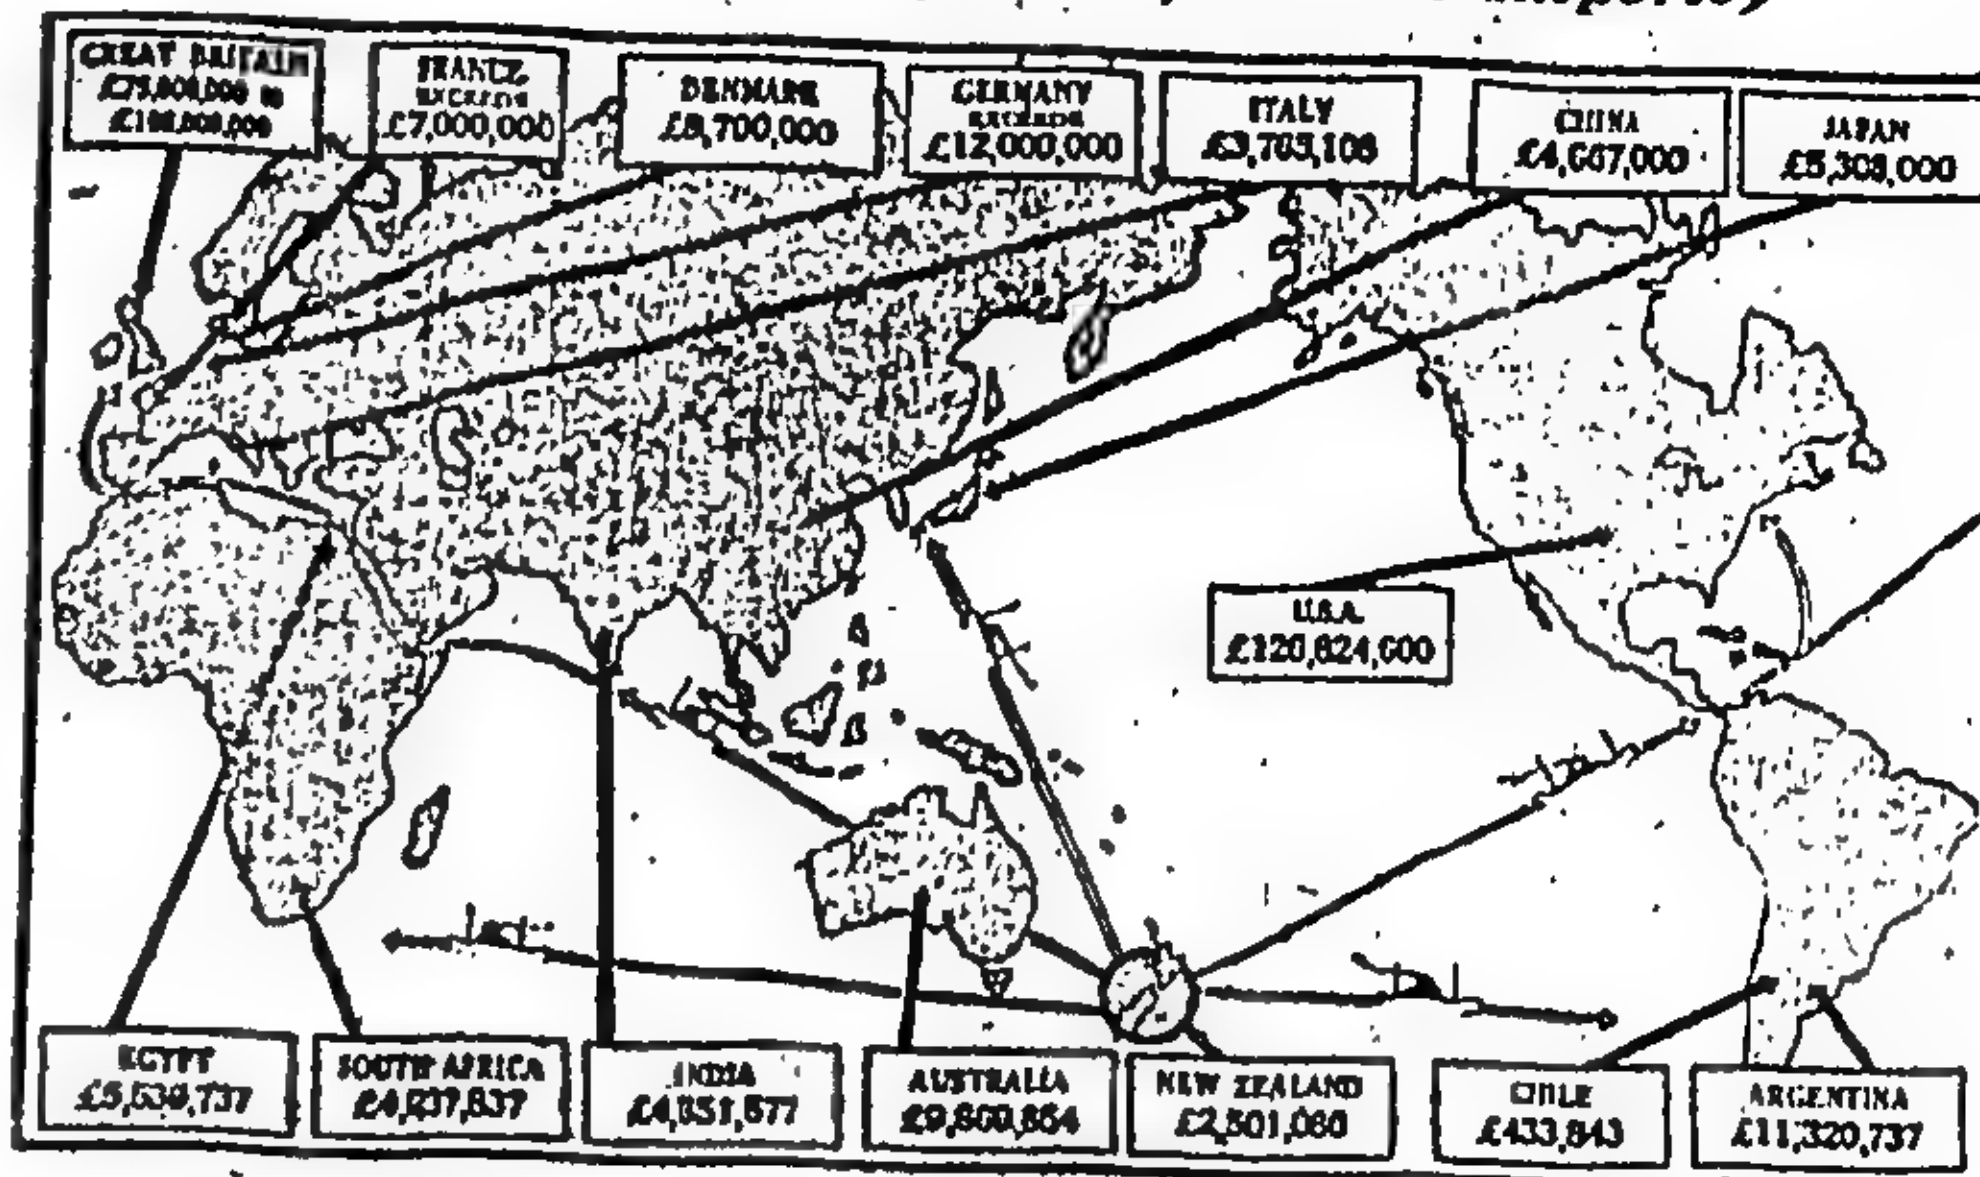

Babies and young children who are not putting on the normal amount of weight often derive the most gratifying benefits from a few doses of Baby's Own Tablets. Countless cases are on record in which the first dose of Baby's Own Tablets has expelled worms and thereafter the little one's progress has been rapid.

Baby's Own Tablets have a wide application in children's ailments. They were designed specifically for this purpose by a doctor specialising in children's ailments who realised the necessity for a handy, all-round health-corrective which parents could use with complete confidence. The tablets are gently laxative, cleanse the whole of the food tract and have the added advantage of being pleasant to eat and appearance. For children's and babies' stomach and bowel troubles, indigestion, constipation, flatulence, croup, colic, convulsions, feverishness, colds, worms, diarrhoea, "Baby's Own" are rapidly curative. During teething they are a real godsend, easing pain and thus enabling baby to sleep. Guaranteed to contain no opiates or harmful drugs. Baby's Own Tablets are absolutely safe and harmless. Remember—it's a doctor's prescription—proved eminently successful. The most exacting parents use Baby's Own Tablets with complete confidence.

BETTER TRADE

Board of Trade figures issued to-day make very satisfactory reading. Exports in August were more than £3,000,000 better than in August, 1932, and more than a million sterling better than during July. Imports of raw materials also show a substantial rise, reflecting the increasing activity in manufacturing centres. The brightest feature of the report is that the improvement is not confined to a few trades but is well spread over industry generally. The figures themselves may suggest at first sight that the improvement is small, but the most significant fact is that they follow upon a period of seven months during which both imports and exports were considerably down as compared with the trade in the corresponding period of last year. Moreover, the improvement concerns some, at least, of the trades where unemployment has been heaviest and where a recovery is most welcome and most promising for the future. Iron and steel manufacture, engineering, and shipbuilding and ship repairing are all industrial groups which show signs of recovering, and in which a recovery means much to the national economy and the improvement has persisted in spite of the continuance of very heavy taxation, in spite of the absence of any improvement in world trade, or of any decline in the obstacles which have caused such trade to dwindle so rapidly, and at a moment when money has become so difficult to lend that the Government recently succeeded in borrowing on short term at a quarter per cent. Two deductions should be made from the fact that so many features survive from the time when the depression was deepening. The first is that the causes of the improvement lie beneath the surface. There can be little doubt that among them must be numbered, on the one hand, a general conviction that the policy of the present Government, though far from immune to criticism, has constructed a basis of improvement, may develop into a real stimulation of improvement, and, at the very worst, will not impede improvement by wild extravagance in theory or in practice. To the second deduction, on the other hand, the effect of the unattractiveness of lending upon the private persons. The second deduction is that no effort must be relaxed to remove those causes which might bring the improvement to a stop. The improvement must be an encouragement to further efforts; not an excuse for stagnation upon the dangerous assumption that things will now right themselves.

NOTES OF THE DAY

TYPHOON WARNINGS

There seems, at first sight, some justification for the complaint registered yesterday by a correspondent concerning the short warning given by the Observatory of Monday's typhoon. The suggestion was that the typhoon would have been upon us, causing havoc among local shipping had fortune so directed its course, before preparations to meet it could have been completed. The contention falls to the ground, however, in the face of the plain facts that it did not come close until at 5 p.m. and that the disturbance was of comparatively slight intensity. These small affairs cause the greatest trouble. Had it been a severe typhoon, its presence would have been detected at least twenty-four hours earlier and the signals would probably have been up on Sunday. But as late as Sunday evening, the Pratas, in the best position to form conclusions, could only say that a small low centre over the western part of the Balintang Channel appeared to be forming as a typhoon somewhere to the south-east. On Monday morning at six a.m., the depression had passed over the Pratas and the station's earlier suspicions had been confirmed. The observations taken showed that the depression had not seriously developed and Hongkong's own experience indicated that it was an extremely mild affair, so mild in fact that it failed to produce a gale here though it passed very close.

THE SALIENT POINT

The salient point is that the disturbance when in the vicinity of the Colony scarcely warranted the description of a typhoon. It was of recent formation and of very small area, still in the incipient stage. As Mr. Jefferies, the Director of the Royal Observatory says, there were faint indications of its presence about 400 miles away on Sunday afternoon, but we may be certain that if shipping in the Colony had been disorganised on the strength of the data then available, the shipping companies would have been vigorous in complaint. As it was, the disturbance behaved peculiarly, getting off the mark to a fast pace and then slowing down to unusually slow progress. Normal calculations were insufficient to govern the situation, hence there is plenty of scope for guesswork on what might have happened had the typhoon conducted a different performance. Clearly, however, an incursion into what might have been is a vain pursuit.

SILVER OUTLOOK

Considered opinion on the silver agreement concluded at the World Economic Conference finds in it much that is highly unsatisfactory. The Financial News, for instance, remarks that India is left free to unload rather more silver than usual, adding that since the passing of the India Currency Act the Government of India has sold (up to March 31) 151,158,512 fine ounces, or an annual average of little more than 25,000,000 and last year sold only 23,500,000. Under the new agreement, the Government may sell in any one year over twice that quantity, and on the average of the four years may sell 35,000,000 ounces per annum. The volume of permitted sale is rather larger than any actual selling that expert opinion would have expected, in the absence of an agreement, so long as prices remain low; and in those circumstances it is quite certain that, as in the past, the first hint of appreciable Government sales will still suffice to frighten all but the most-hardened "bulls" of silver.

private persons. The second deduction is that no effort must be relaxed to remove those causes which might bring the improvement to a stop. The improvement must be an encouragement to further efforts; not an excuse for stagnation upon the dangerous assumption that things will now right themselves.

BOMBING OVER THE NORTH-WEST FRONTIER

By ROLAND WILD

TWO mechanics, almost obscured by their greasy topees, are sitting on the tail-skiid of the Wapiti bomber, bonding forward against the gale of hot air and sand driven by the whirling propeller as the pilot warms up. The temperature is nearing 110 in the shade, and though a few moments before, we were longing for a breath of air, now that we have got it we find it rather worse than the calm sultriness of the morning. We are dressed in shorts, shirts, and pith helmet-cum-bullet-proof tin-hats, and carry parachutes. It is one hour after dawn, and already the faint mist has cleared from the surrounding hills. The pilot yells, and we are off, circling over the brown landing ground, heading towards the hills of the Khyber.

CEASELESS VIGILANCE

My pilot, when I had the privilege as a special correspondent of The Daily Mail of flying all over the tribal territory which is now the scene of extensive operations in the North-West Frontier Province, was engaged on a reconnaissance. His duty was to observe the movements of the tribes, the disposition of their cattle, and to discover if the caves were once more inhabited after a general exodus towards higher ground. The same procedure is being carried out now, though more serious business is afoot. Whereas my pilot, in one of the intervals between inter-tribal warfare, was armed only with a camera, he is now weighed down with ten 20lb. bombs. But only the ceaseless watch over the no-man's-land to either side of the Khyber Pass, undertaken by the Royal Air Force during the last few years, enables our flyers in these times of trouble to interpret the signs from the air.

TELL-TALE PHOTOGRAPHS

As we soared over the hills my pilot passed back notes describing the villages over which we were passing. He swooped down on an irregular hill formation, and his pencilled note read: "See tracks outside caves." He was flattering me, for I could see no caves and spot, and the evidence provided by the photographs after being analysed by the ground staff, were enough to tell him exactly what movements were going on among the nomad tribes.

The unskilled eye can detect nothing. Very often even the practised eye misses the finer points of this now-style tracking. But after numerous experiments the ground staff of the North-West Frontier Air Force is able to decipher any changes from the pictures taken in the air.

They can tell whether the caves have been used within the previous 24 hours. They can tell whether cattle have been moved, and whether the inhabitants of those caves have removed all their possessions or have just decamped for the night. They can read from the signs whether there has been a jirga (tribal council) in the vicinity and can form a fair estimate of the number of tribesmen who were there.

AIR FORCE'S FUNCTION

The Air Force, during the present disturbance, have had to

They follow in attempting to clean up a mass movement towards belligerence. They dropped their warning messages, and were fired at ineffectively for their pains. This probably does not mean very much, for the tribesman at this time of year is quite liable to take a gesture of defiance at any visitor.

At the approach of an aeroplane, the moving tribesmen perform their celebrated act of making themselves invisible. But there are no secrets from the camera, and as soon as the negatives are back at the base the authorities are in a position to know exactly what proportion of the tribes remain defiant and how many have moved for their own safety.

That knowledge decides the destination of the bombs. The object of the Air Force is not to take life but to teach a lesson and to separate combatants. If the tribes show themselves stubborn after the first warning they are subjected to a frightening demonstration of accuracy from the air, but are seldom injured in their caves. This first attack usually has the required effect of getting them on the move.

NEVER YET FAILED

If, however, they are still defiant, power can be shown by a spectacular demolition of some nearby tribal stronghold which has been verified as uninhabited. That last warning has never yet failed on the North-West Frontier. It has never yet been found necessary to take human life deliberately in order to discourage disobedience.

It must be remembered, however, that at certain periods the tribesman is in a peculiar state of mind. Towards the end of the hot weather, when all these disturbances occur, his hands are idle after the crops have been garnered, and he looks forward to leisure and relaxation. His fingers itch when he handles his rifle, for he has been brought up in the belief that the only real love for a strong man (himself) is warfare. Excuses come easily. His religion can provide half a dozen reasons why he should attack his neighbours, even if his love of loot is for the moment subdued.

FANATIC TRIBESMEN

Not so long ago, soon after I hurried back from Kabul after witnessing the beginning of the end of Amanullah, the tribesmen decided that Habibullah, one of the most bloodthirsty rascals who ever walked in a bloodthirsty country, was more or less a second Mahomed. That depraved and cruel tyrant was credited with most of the virtues known to the Afghan, the Mohmand, or the Halimzal. The tribes rushed to his support. And not until he was put to death in Kabul were they persuaded that perhaps, after all, he was not immortal.

This time, it is said to be a 12-years-old "Pretender," dupe of the "Mad Fakir," who has inspired them to defiance of British aeroplanes. They are no doubt convinced in their hearts that true virtue lies in a foolhardy courage and sacrifice for the sake of this

The Very Idea!

PYJAMA PARADES
By Eddio Kelly, Pi Squared

WHILE we were munching a spot of afternoon tea yesterday with "Abigail," she told us about the M.C.L. gala at Repulse Bay next week.

There is, we understand, to be a beauty parade in pyjamas. Sort of beauty and the beach.

Personally we don't know what Hongkong's coming to. In our days the only time you wore pyjamas was when it was too hot to wear your woollen nightgown.

You've just got to visit our beaches nowadays to see that the idea of the modern miss is to give as much clothing as possible a miss.

Brevity is the soul of the hit — of the bathing girl. They're Janitzen with tears in their eyes.

Not that they're an eyesore. Far be it from us to criticise bathing costumes and pyjama parades.

Give our girls their due, they live up to their Tan Commandments.

Where we're concerned, we never go tanning unless we're in the nude for it. We never were keen on giving life-like imitations of liver-sausage.

This is the good old summer time, when the best place to do your sun-bathing is in a tub at home, surrounded by empty beer bottles.

But we go to the beaches on Sunday's, along with all our girl friends.

While the Church bells are peeling in Hongkong and Kowloon, the belles are peeling at Repulse Bay and Castle Peak.

Anyway, we will be along to the M.C.L. Fete on Wednesday next week.

You never can tell how we'll get on. Maybe, some of the girls in the pyjama parade will fall for us. Maybe we'll fall for them.

It's Fete, just fete!

THE ANSWER

The answer to a negro's prayer ("We needs rain, Lawd") Came down in torrents through the air.

("Not a sizzle-sizzle, ner a drizzle-drizzle") And every true Barometer ("Open up de flood gates, Lawd") Changed rapidly from fair. So if a prayer will work the charm ("We needs rain Lawd an' we needs h't bad") The monaco drought we could disarm.

("Wash us Lawd") With prayers by the P.W.D. ("Wash us, wash us in de blood o' de Lamb, Lawd.") If they could reach, through droughty skies, such heights of piety.

BRITAIN TURNS THE TRADE CORNER

SHARP RISE IN EXPORTS

ENCOURAGING AUGUST FIGURES

AN ALL-ROUND IMPROVEMENT

London, Sept. 12. From many reliable sources recently, evidence has been forthcoming of a very definite improvement in trading conditions in Great Britain.

The best possible confirmations are provided by the Board of Trade returns issued to-day which show that the improvement is not confined to a few trades and industries only, but includes business generally.

For the eight months to the end of August, imports decreased by about £36½ millions as compared with the corresponding period of last year, while over the same period, the decrease in exports was about £8½ millions.

In recent months, however, the figures have tended to improve and those for August are regarded as exceptionally encouraging.

Exports last month totalled £35,297,184 as compared with £34,171,060 in July and £32,043,245 in August 1932.

Imports compared with August last year show an increase of £3,432,077 which is entirely due to the larger amounts of raw materials entering the country.

Some of the principal increases in exports compared with a year ago occur in iron and steel, woollen manufactures, electrical goods, and cutlery and hardware. British automobile exports also continue to increase.—British Wireless.

ALLEGED INDECENT ASSAULT

COURT CLEARED FOR EVIDENCE

Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, ordered the Court to be cleared when he heard evidence in the case in which Cheung Chit, a dockyard coolie, was charged with committing an indecent assault on Cheung Chan, a married woman, on the ground floor of No. 4, Electric Street, on August 3.

Detective Sergeant Fitches said that the complainant was the wife of a street coolie, and together with her husband occupied a bed space on the ground floor of No. 4, Electric Street. The defendant and his wife occupied an adjacent bed space.

On the morning of August 3 about 4 o'clock the complainant's husband left to find a job, his wife not being aware that he had gone. Some time later, it was alleged, defendant got into her bed. She "consented" to subsequent incidents, not realising that it was not her husband, until she spoke, and received no reply. She immediately raised the alarm. She intended to detain defendant until the return of her husband, but as he did not come back early, reported the incident to the police. The defendant in the meantime absconded, and was not arrested till September 5.

The hearing was adjourned until to-morrow afternoon.

LUCKY CATCH FOR POLICE

MAN WHO RUNS HOUSES OF ILL FAME

Resulting from Police raids last night, Kwong Shu-yee appeared in the dock of the Central Police Court before Mr. Schofield this morning on charges of keeping a brothel at 20, Queen's Road East, and 60, Hennessy Road.

Detective-Inspector Baker said he had been instructed to ask for the full penalty. They were lucky enough to have caught the defendant.

The magistrate imposed consecutive fines of £250 or three months' hard labour and one month's hard labour and one month's hard labour in addition on each charge.

GOVERNOR OF MACAO

SAILS ABOARD THE SUI TAI

LOCAL RECEPTION LAST NIGHT

His Excellency the Governor of Macao, Lieut. Col. A. J. Bernardes de Miranda, accompanied by Madame Celestine Teixeira d'Abreu Miranda and the Treasurer of Macao, Mr. Fernando Castanha das Costa, arrived in the Colony yesterday from Lisbon aboard the s.s. Cremer en route for Macao.

His Excellency was greeted in Hongkong by a large gathering of the Portuguese community, among them being the Consul General, Mr. P. V. Botelho and Mrs. Botelho, the Portuguese Consul for Canton, Mr. Alves Guerra and Mrs. Guerra, Major Peregrino de Costa, Lieut. the Marquis de Ficalho, A.D.C. to Dr. Rocha Santos, acting-Governor of Macao, and members of the staff of the local branch of the Macao Bank.

Last evening the visitors were the guests of the local community at the Club de Lusitano.

His Excellency was welcomed and congratulated by Mr. Botelho on the success of his conference with the Minister for the Colonies at Home in connexion with proposed developments in Macao. His Excellency suitably responded.

The Governor sailed for Macao at 1 p.m. to-day aboard the s.s. Sui Tai, a special trip having been arranged by the shipping company.

It is understood that the visitation of the typhoon in the vicinity of Macao has somewhat upset the arrangements made for his welcome. Chinese arches were erected along wharf at which he was to arrive and the street gaily decked with flags. We were informed this morning that the high winds that prevailed during yesterday blew them down. With the abatement of the winds to day efforts are being made to re-erect the decorations.

Before leaving Lisbon, His Excellency conferred with the Minister for the Colonies and it is believed he will be able to carry out many measures for the development of Macao when he returns.

The Governor's return is awaited with interest, and it is hoped that the schemes which are reported to have been favourably considered by the Lisbon Government, will be of considerable advantage to Macao.

WAGES WITHHELD FROM MUI TSAI

TWO COURT CASES THIS MORNING

Ho Chuen-ho, a married woman, residing at 42, Main Street, Apichau, summoned before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, for failing to pay wages to her mui-tsai, Mak Wong-hi, was fined $10, and ordered to deposit $52, the amount of the wages, with the S.C.A., on behalf of the girl.

Sub-Inspector H. W. Fraser, of the S.C.A., informed the Court that the defendant had been warned on three occasions by a lady inspector to pay the mui-tsai her wages. The arrears amounted to $52 for the past three years.

Li Yue-kwai, a widow, residing at No. 33, Belcher's Street, 3rd floor, was fined $50 for keeping an unregistered mui-tsai, Au Cheong, aged 18.

Sub-Inspector Fraser said that the girl had been presented to the defendant for $100 Canton money. No wages had been paid, but the money paid for the girl by defendant was considered as wages. The girl was quite happy, and was very well treated.

ROOSEVELT FAMILY DIFFERENCES

POLITICAL AND NOT PERSONAL

New York, Sept. 7.

It was indicated to-day that whatever differences exist in the Roosevelt family, are political and not personal, when Col. Theodore Roosevelt, recently Governor General of the Philippines and Franklin Roosevelt Jr., son of the President, met after a visit in Europe.

Col. Roosevelt went to Europe after resigning his post in the Philippines and Franklin Roosevelt Jr. went there in June after his graduation from Groton school. The two met in Paris and decided to make the homeward voyage together.

Col. Roosevelt has conducted a lifelong Republican campaign against his cousin and a recent address by him was carried by radio from the Philippines to the United States.

NAZI ECONOMICS

GERMAN BANKING INQUIRY

STATE & PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

The commission of inquiry appointed to conduct a general banking inquiry for the Reich, assembled to-day for the first time to hear the speech of the Governor of the Reichsbank, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, who discussed ways and means of the inquiry.

Other speakers were Commissary for Economics, Herr Keppler, as well as the Secretary of States, Herr Gottfried Feder.

Dr. Schacht declared that the present German banking system is not sufficient when it comes to tackling problems amounting to an economic as well as national revolution. The last banking inquiry held in 1927 to 1930 was conducted only from the point of view of party interests with the result that no real success could be achieved. The present inquiry certainly will find application in the realm of law and administration.

One of the most important duties of the commission, Dr. Schacht declared, must be to determine with the utmost precision the dimensions of its functions. Should private enterprise and state work and act against each other, dangerous disturbances would follow.

NAZI PRINCIPLES.

Herr Keppler, Commissary of Economics, maintained that the "leader" principle must become effective in the country's economic and banking system in no less degree than the political life of the state. He attacked the concentration of power into bureaucratic, unpersonal bodies of banking institutions which up to now were strongly decentralised.

National Socialism believes, he said, that the greatest weight of the whole economic system must be given to productive undertakings and enterprises. The duty of the banking system must be to assist those productive forces.

The Secretary of State Herr Gottfried Feder declared that National Socialism is fully aware of the fact that of the three parts constituting economic life—production, circulation and conjunction, production must by all means remain free from any interference from the State if it shall be able to fully exercise its creative abilities. On the other hand, circulation has to be handled in an entirely different manner. It is the duty of the state to supervise this branch of economics.

Herr Friedrich, member of the Board of Directors of the Reichsbank, announced that legal coercion would not be applied to as a fact-finding method, with the sole provision, however, that the wishes of the commission should be complied with. In order to finish the gigantic task within the current year, the commission will convene four days a week.—Trans-Ocean Kuo Min.

EUROPEAN SUED

AWARDED JUDGMENT ON DEBT CLAIM

Mr. A. Martin, of 19, Cameron Road, was unsuccessfully sued by a Chinese furniture firm at the Supreme Court this morning for $115, balance due on a total indebtedness of $685.50.

Mr. C. Lowe, of Dennys and Co., represented the Lun Hing Furniture Company, plaintiffs, and Mr. R. H. Cole, of Geo. K. Hall Brutton and Co., appeared for defendant.

Owing to pressure of work, the Chief Justice, Mr. J. R. Wood, deputised for the Pulane Judge, Mr. R. E. Lindell.

Fokis of the firm gave evidence to the effect that Mrs. Martin had paid only one instalment for the months of January and February.

Mrs. Martin testified that she went to the shop on January 27 and paid the money to a man who was in charge, and on February 3 she paid that month's instalment.

Cross-examined she said she was not aware that January 27 was the Chinese New Year and that therefore the shop would be closed. She maintained that it was open when she called and a man in charge, accepted the money.

The Chief Justice said that further evidence would not be necessary as he was satisfied with Mrs. Martin's evidence.

Judgment was given for defendant for $400.

Defendants admitted liability for the remainder of the debt which was paid by the court.

HOME FOOTBALL: FACTS, FIGURES AND FORECAST

LAST SATURDAY'S SAD EXPERIENCE

ARE BAD DAYS AHEAD OF THE ARSENAL?

CLASSIC DUEL ANTICIPATED WITH SPURS THIS WEEK

(By "The Pilgrim").

With a fresh batch of fixtures to hand and the sad experience of last Saturday to guide them, partisans will be weighing up club prospects in the coming games with a new outlook.

Manchester City—or was it Arsenal who caused the heartache at Highbury—are going great guns. The Arsenal, I am often told, are sure to topple from their pinnacle, but when it will be no one dare suggest. It is not doubted, however, that they will go through their bad time.

It is terribly difficult to live at the top of the world. In fact, through all the years of the League I think only Aston Villa can be said to have consistently maintained top-of-the-table form.

During the past seven years, since the coming of Mr. Herbert Chapman to Highbury, the Arsenal have been amazingly successful. Not only have they been in three Cup finals, winning once, but they have scored more points in the League than any other club.

Their total is 346, three more than Sheffield Wednesday and four more than Aston Villa. Huddersfield are fourth on the list with 327 to their credit.

SPURS' HIGH HOPES.

Now they have to face the Spurs, red hot from the kick-off to disprove the "flash-in-the-pan" whisper that they were bound to greet their cyclonic entry to First Division football.

The popularity of the side has never been so great as now. They have a larger following than at any time in their history, though the present team in my opinion does not equal that in which Cantrell, Bliss, and Tommy Clay figured so prominently when the "Spurs" won the Cup.

The Spurs have a wonderful opportunity to regain their position in the game, and if they can achieve a fair measure of success the crowds will rush to the White Hart Lane ground as never before.

The officials have exercised great patience in piloting the club back to the First Division, and they may be left to consolidate their position. I have no doubt, however, that supporters of the team would have been better pleased if a bolder policy had been adopted—if all the players necessary to offer an immediate challenge to the Arsenal had been obtained.

All the same I fancy that the Arsenal will totter before the all-conquering leaders of the senior division though as a coupon bet, the match would best be left out.

Derby County are retrieving their position and boldly took a point from Newcastle on the cup-holders' own ground.

The Wolves, for whom I forecast an early recovery were overwhelmed by Sunderland's young eleven (though three of the goals against them resulted from mistakes) and West Bromwich whose beautiful style was a feature of last season's football were helpless against Blackburn. Chelsea are consistently bad and a radical revision of methods and personnel is their only hope in my opinion.

NEWCASTLE AND BIG TRANSFER FEES

REFUSE TO BE "BLED WHITE"

More than once last season it was suggested that Newcastle United were about to pay an extravagant sum for a player. I remember it was whispered that they had offered £12,000 for English the Rangers' centre forward, who has recently joined Liverpool—but not for £12,000.

The five-figure transfer fee may come back, but not until there is another boom. I believe the highest sum paid for a player last season was £5,500.

Meanwhile Newcastle United have definitely decided that they are not going to be "bled white." More than once they have paid big sums without getting adequate reward, and I am sure the directors have not forgotten—it was only about three years ago—that they had to provide money out of their own pockets for the players' wages.

I do not think Mr. Andrew Cunningham, the manager, will encourage a spending policy. "In these days," he has told me, "we can't afford to pay big fees and in our present position I prefer to get young players and train them ourselves."

Fortunately, the club are well enough placed to be able to do this. That is to say they have no urgent need and they can wait for their youths to develop. They have a dozen or more on the staff and I believe some of them are very promising.

But the play last season suggested that another centre forward would have been very useful and J. Kelly, from Burnley, has been signed on. The need for a goal-getting leader still remains. Allen is, of course, still at St. James's Park, and with all the other old players I expect the side will be much as usual.

Mr. Cunningham has formed new ideas as to how the modern game should be played. I agree that the centre forward to-day is little better than a chopping block, but if he is to fall back and the two inside men are to go right up, it is, once getting rid of the V formation, I doubt whether the defensive system can be maintained.

VILLA FEARS DISPELLED.

There was a period last season when one began to be afraid about Aston Villa. Everything seemed to be going wrong for them.

Queen's Park, the gallant team which is offering such a determined challenge to the hitherto accepted superiority of the Rangers, Motherwell and Celtic, lost their 100 per cent. record to-day, when they were forced to a draw on their own ground by Hearts.

ABOUT THE AMATEURS

THE CORINTHIANS PATCH UP A QUARREL

MANY CHANGES IN LEADING TEAMS

Now a word on Amateur football. After four seasons of aloofness, sometimes bordering on open hostility, an entente between the Corinthians and the Casuals has been effected again, and the two famous Old Boy clubs are working together in closer harmony than ever before.

A joint selection committee, composed of three Corinthians, G. N. Foster, A. G. Doggart and J. G. Stevenson, and three Casuals, F. G. Smith, T. Ross and F. G. I. Packington, will function each week.

A circular letter has been sent out to all the Corinthian players asking them to become members of the Casuals, so that they will be able to assist the Isthmian club in important matches.

So far as amateur football is concerned, the season promises to be one of the most successful in the history of the game.

Every League, except the Isthmian and Athenian has been strengthened by new clubs.

No amateur player of any note except Gibson, the Kingstonian inside right, has joined the professional ranks, and every club has secured promising new talent.

In trial matches over 200 new men were tested, and never has the outlook for the leading organisations been so bright.

CLOSE SEASON CHANGES.

Many changes have been made during the close season. Lechworth Town and Waterloosville have moved to the Premier Division of the Spartan League, and Hoxton Manor and Shepherds Bush add strength to the First Division, in which Aylesbury United and Apsley will play this season.

Leavesden M.H., Post Office Engineers, and Streatham Town will immensely improve the Premier Division of the London League, and Northmet, the successful Northern Suburban League team of last season, will strengthen what is likely to prove the best First Division of the London League has had for several years.

The two outstanding clubs of last season, Kingstonian and Dulwich Hamlet, will again be very much in the limelight.

H. Benka has signed amateur forms for Crystal Palace, but with the evergreen Edgar Kall he will again regularly assist Dulwich Hamlet.

The Amateur Cup holders, Kingstonian, will miss F. Russell, who has retired, and Gibson, but the "K's" expect to find the required new back and inside right in their trial match next Saturday.

After their wonderful advance of last season, I am sorry to learn that Brentwood and Warley are losing R. and K. Mayes to Barking.

Another loss to Spartan League football is J. Morrison, Callenders Athletic scoring centre-forward, who has joined the staff of Tottenham Hotspur.

The really big "captures" so far have been made by Ilford and Wimbledon.

L. Young, the Colchester Town centre half-back has joined Ilford, and W. Truman and S. Smith are to assist Wimbledon. Truman played consistently well for Swindon last season, and Smith was equally good in A.F.A. matches.

Wimbledon, who had a lot of trouble with their defence last year, should be strong in that department during 1933-34. As F. Binkley, a former Arsenal player, and J. Goddard will be available.

Striking picture taken during the Chelsea trial match. It shows Callagher, Chelsea's famous forward in a duel with the goalkeeper. Callagher was injured in this match.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S WHAT

Pithy Pars Gleaned From a Number of Headquarters

(By "The Pilgrim").

STOCKPORT County tried fifteen new players in the first practice match at Edgeley Park. Among those to show special promise were two young full-backs, Angus, a junior from South Shields, and Rothwell, an amateur from Heaton Mersey.

It was thought that Blackpool and Bolton Wanderers, the rejects from the First Division of 1932-33, would most likely set the pace, but personally I do not think that at all probable.

As the teams are constructed at present they are no doubt "fair to middling," when playing at home, but when away only Bolton seem to have sufficient "guts" to progress very satisfactorily.

BUT my view is that one must seek further than those luckless Lancastrians, for the clubs likely to do the damage, and I like the look of Bradford even better than I did last season.

The many new additions to the Park Avenue register should strengthen the side materially, especially as Mr. Claud. Ingram has got a bit more youth to call upon.

"WITH the erection of the new double-decker stand for 10,000 people at the Osaston-road end of the ground holding capacity will be approximately 40,000," says Mr. Geo. Jobey, manager of Derby County. "The covered accommodation will be, at the lowest estimate, 30,000."

LINCOLN City have transferred their "star," Alan Hall, to Tottenham Hotspur, and I must advise you not to pick them too often, especially in away matches. All the same, the club has for years kept its head well above water, and will not sink this season.

MILLWALL seem to have acquired the art of how to bring game to a draw. At home and away their defence is really good, though I am afraid I cannot say the same for the forward line.

BLINKINSOP shows every sign of having made a complete recovery, and that is excellent news, for in recent years no player has been a greater constant to the team. I am afraid, however, that he is not yet fit to play.

GEORGE SMITH COMING

George E. Smith, the London professional, who was in Hongkong a few years ago and gave valuable instruction to local golfers, expects to be here again in November. It is understood that he has notified the Royal Hongkong Golf Club by cable of his intended visit. Many will recall George Smith, and his ability to improve his pupils' game. Later, he sent an assistant out to Hongkong from time to time, and it is interesting to learn that he is now coming out himself for the winter season.

SPEY CUP

FINAL WILL BE PLAYED

DECISION MADE YESTERDAY

The final of the Spey Royal Cup Competition between the Kowloon Dock R. C. and the Craigengower C. C. is to be played off at a date to be fixed later.

This decision was arrived at by the Committee of the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association last evening, when the difficulty over the final match was fully discussed by the representatives from the various clubs.

Mr. J. Kempton, representing the Kowloon Dock R. C., agreed to take the responsibility of withdrawing the original letter to the Association, and it was decided that the matter could therefore be settled by the final being played off on a date to be arranged by the sub-committee.

Interport Practices. It is announced that F. Cullen of the Kowloon Dock is unable to play in the interport practice games on Saturday, and his place will be taken by W. Muir of the Police who is reserve for the interport teams.

Cullen is No. 3 to R. F. Luz whose rink will now be A. E. Coates, J. Chalmers, W. Muir and R. F. Luz and they will meet J. V. Ramsay, A. Hyde-Lay, F. J. Jones and A. M. Holland.

TO-DAY'S CLASSIC.

Hyperion Favoured For St. Leger.

ALMOST A CERTAINTY.

It was learned late last night that Highlander, Belfry, Donnosol, Earleton and Typhonic had been scratched from the St. Leger. There will be fourteen starters. The dispatch added that Bullock would ride Eight Snaces, Fox King Salmon and Lowry Solfaiera. Otherwise the horses and riders as published yesterday are unchanged.

London, Sept. 12.

If the consensus of opinion of owners and trainers is any criterion, Hyperion, the winner of the Derby, is a certainty for the St. Leger.

Hyperion is owned by Lord Derby and will be ridden in to-morrow's classic event by T. Weston, who with a total of 82 winning mounts, comes just below G. Richards, H. Wraggs and W. Nevett as England's leading jockey. Weston rode Hyperion to victory in the Derby, which was won in the record time of 2 min. 34 seconds, three-fifths of a second being clipped off Call Boy's time in 1927.

Incidentally Weston also rode a Derby winner in 1924, his mount being Lord Derby's Sansovino.

The St. Leger, however, is a notorious race for upsets, as witness the defeat of Camorran, the 1931 Derby and 2,000 Guinea winner, by Sandwich, in 1931, and the defeat of Orwell, the favourite, by Firdausi last year.

The Hon. G. Lambton, the trainer of Hyperion, Highlander, and Scarlet Tiger, says that all is well and sound with his horses, although Hyperion does not prove that he is a smasher at hard going.

R. Dawson, the trainer of Harinero, and incidentally the trainer of the 1929 and 1930 Derby winners, says that Harinero will run well, but he cannot see him or any other horse beating Hyperion. O. Bell, who is training King Salmon, which came second in the Derby, says likewise.

Captain Behrens, owner of Light Sussex, which will be ridden by the redoubtable Pat Donoghue, is of the opinion that the hope of the North will be the fittest horse in the St. Leger.

The Aga Khan, who had such sensational luck last year, says that Foleatation, which was quoted at yesterday's list at 22 to 1, may win, but there is not much hope of beating Hyperion or King Salmon for first places.

Alfred Butt is not optimistic regarding his horse Young Lover, which is quoted at 20 to 1.

J. Lawson, the trainer of Donnosol, Earleton, and Raymond, says that his charges are thriving; and Sir Abe Bailey, the owner of Raymond, expects that his horse will give a promising display, especially with Gordon Richards, the champion jockey, riding.

Mr. E. Edmond, the owner of Inter-lace and Sanspoinc, states that the latter has a habit of springing surprises, and is confident that Sanspoinc will be in the first three.

E. C. Elliott, who is riding Thor, the French challenger, is well satisfied with his prospects of winning. Elliott rode Foleatation in the Derby.

The seventh annual general meeting of the Hongkong Reel Club will be held at the Helena May Institute on Monday, September 18, at 5.15 p.m. to receive the annual report and statement of accounts and to elect officers for the forthcoming season.

The report of the general Committee for the year 1932-33 reads as follows:

We have pleasure in presenting to you the report and statement of accounts for the year 1932-33, from which it will be observed that the finances of the club are in a satisfactory position, the balance at credit being $468.72.

Seven members have resigned from the club; the names of 21 members have been written off the membership roll; 34 new members have joined and two ex-members have rejoined—our membership is now 113. Members having friends who wish to join, are invited to fill in entrance forms and send them in to the Hon. Secretary.

A successful and enjoyable dance was held at Messrs. Lane, Crawford's Restaurant, on November 10, 1932, and was attended by a large number of members and friends.

We are much indebted to Pipe Major Mackie for the very valuable tuition during the past season. Instruction was given in Foursome and Eightsome Reels, Highland Fling, Sword Dance, Highland Schottische, Caledonians and the Dashing White Sergeant.

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEYESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was steady yesterday. Business done 2,240,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's market:

The market closed irregularly lower due to heavy profit-taking after an earlier rise on account of inflation talk, weaker U.S. Dollar and favourable business news. The Stock Exchange and other markets will be closed at noon on Wednesday owing to a statewide observance of the National Recovery Act. Our New York Office cable (this morning) Stocks: Apparently consolidating Monday's gains realizing was well absorbed and an early resumption of advance is indicated. Wheat: Liverpool weakness ignored. Early strength on mill buying but later realizing caused the market to close lower. Argentine rains insufficient. Primary small purchases on declines advised. Cotton: Renewed pressure for inflation reported but buyers are less responsive to rumors and appear inclined to await more definite developments in view of heavy crop movement beginning. All exchanges except the grain market will be closed at noon on Wednesday. Silver: The market is easier on profit-taking. Our New York Office cable (Last Night) Stocks: The momentum of the current advance is likely to carry the list higher. Oils, motors, rails and equipments favoured. Wheat: Liverpool unresponsive. Our Government report confirms major losses in all agricultural production. Inflation developed broad buying. The situation favours buying on all dips. Cotton: The market opened higher in response to Liverpool and some continuation of yesterday's buying but met hedge selling which it will no doubt continue to do on advances for some time to come. Consensus of brokerage opinion is bullish.

JAPAN'S DUMPING

CHEAP FOODSTUFFS ON MALAYAN MARKET

Singapore, Sept. 12.
Following the dumping of cotton piece-goods in Malaya, Japanese have started importing foodstuffs into the Straits Settlements.

Eggs, scientifically packed in order to keep fresh for weeks, are being imported from Japan and retailed at one cent each, compared with 2 1/2 cents each for local eggs.

Large quantities of Japanese canned provisions and condiments are also being sold at prices much below those of goods from China, and Chinese shops are alleged to be retailing them under false Chinese labels.—Reuter.

NINE INCHES OF RAIN ON ISLAND: WATER FAMINE FEARS OVER

T.U.C. OPPOSES FASCISM

AGAINST DICTATORSHIPS OF ANY KIND

London, Sept. 7. Although British Fascists claim their government was all British it was foreign in its inspiration and make-up, declared Mr. Citrine, General Secretary of the Trade Union Congress, in presenting to the general council of the congress a report on "Dictatorship and the Trade Union Movement" at the annual meeting in Brighton this evening.

Mr. Citrine said they must fight Fascism before it became powerful and must not under-estimate its importance.

"The dictatorship of the proletariat," was a meaningless phrase but it was useless to say that such a doctrine was not a menace when thousands of pounds were being paid in the furtherance of Russian propaganda in this country.

The policy of the council was clear, the General Secretary continued, and it would use all its power against dictatorships of any kind. The report was adopted by an overwhelming majority.—Reuter.

AUSTRALIA LACKS STAFF OFFICERS

NEED FOR TRAINED MEN

Sydney, Sept. 7. "If the call to defend Australia went out to-morrow and we wanted 100,000 men at once, the sheer weight of their number would clog the machine, because we have not the trained staff officers to handle them," declared Colonel G. F. Murphy, the commander of the 18th battalion of the Australian Imperial Forces during the war, in an interview today.

"Our force," he added, "would be impotent and chaos would rule."

Colonel Murphy saw service in Egypt, France and Belgium during the Great War, was wounded twice and was mentioned in despatches seven times. For his services he received the C.M.G. and the D.S.O. and bar. He is at present sheriff of the state of New South Wales and Deputy Marshal of the High Court of Australia.—Reuter.

TUNNEL UNDER GIBRALTAR

PROJECT GAINS SUPPORT

Paris, Sept. 6. Preparations for the construction of a tunnel under the Strait of Gibraltar are actively going on, according to the Madrid correspondent of Le Temps, who states that the bottom of the sea in the entire region which is coming into question for the projected tunnel has been carefully studied from a geological point of view and that a company with British, French and Spanish capital is expected to be formed early next year in order to carry out the enterprise.

There are no technical obstacles to the construction of the tunnel but it would be necessary, it is pointed out, to proceed simultaneously with the building of a railway on African soil so as to render the new means of communication between the two continents profitable.

The correspondent of Le Temps emphasises that the announcement of the scheme is creating considerable uneasiness in Italian political circles.

WOODRUFF MURDER TRIAL

CHAUFFEUR UNABLE TO IDENTIFY SUSPECTS.

Harbin, Sept. 7. The trial of two Chinese and a Russian by the name of Satoroff, who were arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Mrs. Helen Woodruff on October 12, 1932, is now in progress.

The principal witness is Mr. Woodruff's chauffeur, Ysachenko, who was wounded during the attack on the murdered woman.

Ysachenko said that Satoroff looked very closely at the occupants of the car when it was about to leave the house, this apparently being a pre-arranged signal.

He was, however, unable to identify either of the two Chinese.—Reuter.

BIG INCREASE IN STORAGE

SUPPLY HOURS NOT TO BE CHANGED

GAIN NOT YET SUFFICIENT

The island reservoirs have benefitted by nearly three hundred million gallons as a result of the heavy rains brought by Monday's weather disturbance, while Kowloon's reservoirs are already full.

The prospect of a modification of the water restrictions in Hongkong is, however, remote at the moment. Further heavy rains are not anticipated yet.

The typhoon is now in the Gulf of Tongking, about one hundred miles west of Hainan Straits, moving slowly westwards.

A trough of relatively low pressure extends from Indo-China, across the Philippines to Guam. The weather forecast is: East winds, fresh; cloudy, with occasional rain, improving.

NEARLY 300 MILLIONS.

The total island storage this morning amounted to 1,736 mill. galls, being an increase of 289 mill. galls, during the past 48 hours. Even without further rain the reservoirs will continue to rise for a few days yet.

The storage position is now appreciably better than it was on 13th. September, 1928—when the dry spell responsible for the 1929 water shortage had set in.

The storage on 13th. September, 1928 amounted to 1,656 mill. galls.

NO EXTENSION YET.

No extension of the present hours of supply are possible just yet, but a little more rain might improve the position sufficiently to enable this step to be taken.

The total rainfall for the past 48 hours has varied from 7.00 inches at Tytam to 9.94 inches at Aberdeen.

All the mainland reservoirs are full and they will remain at or near capacity for the next few weeks without further rain.

PEKING GLACIS INCIDENT

AMERICAN MINISTER NOT TO PROTEST

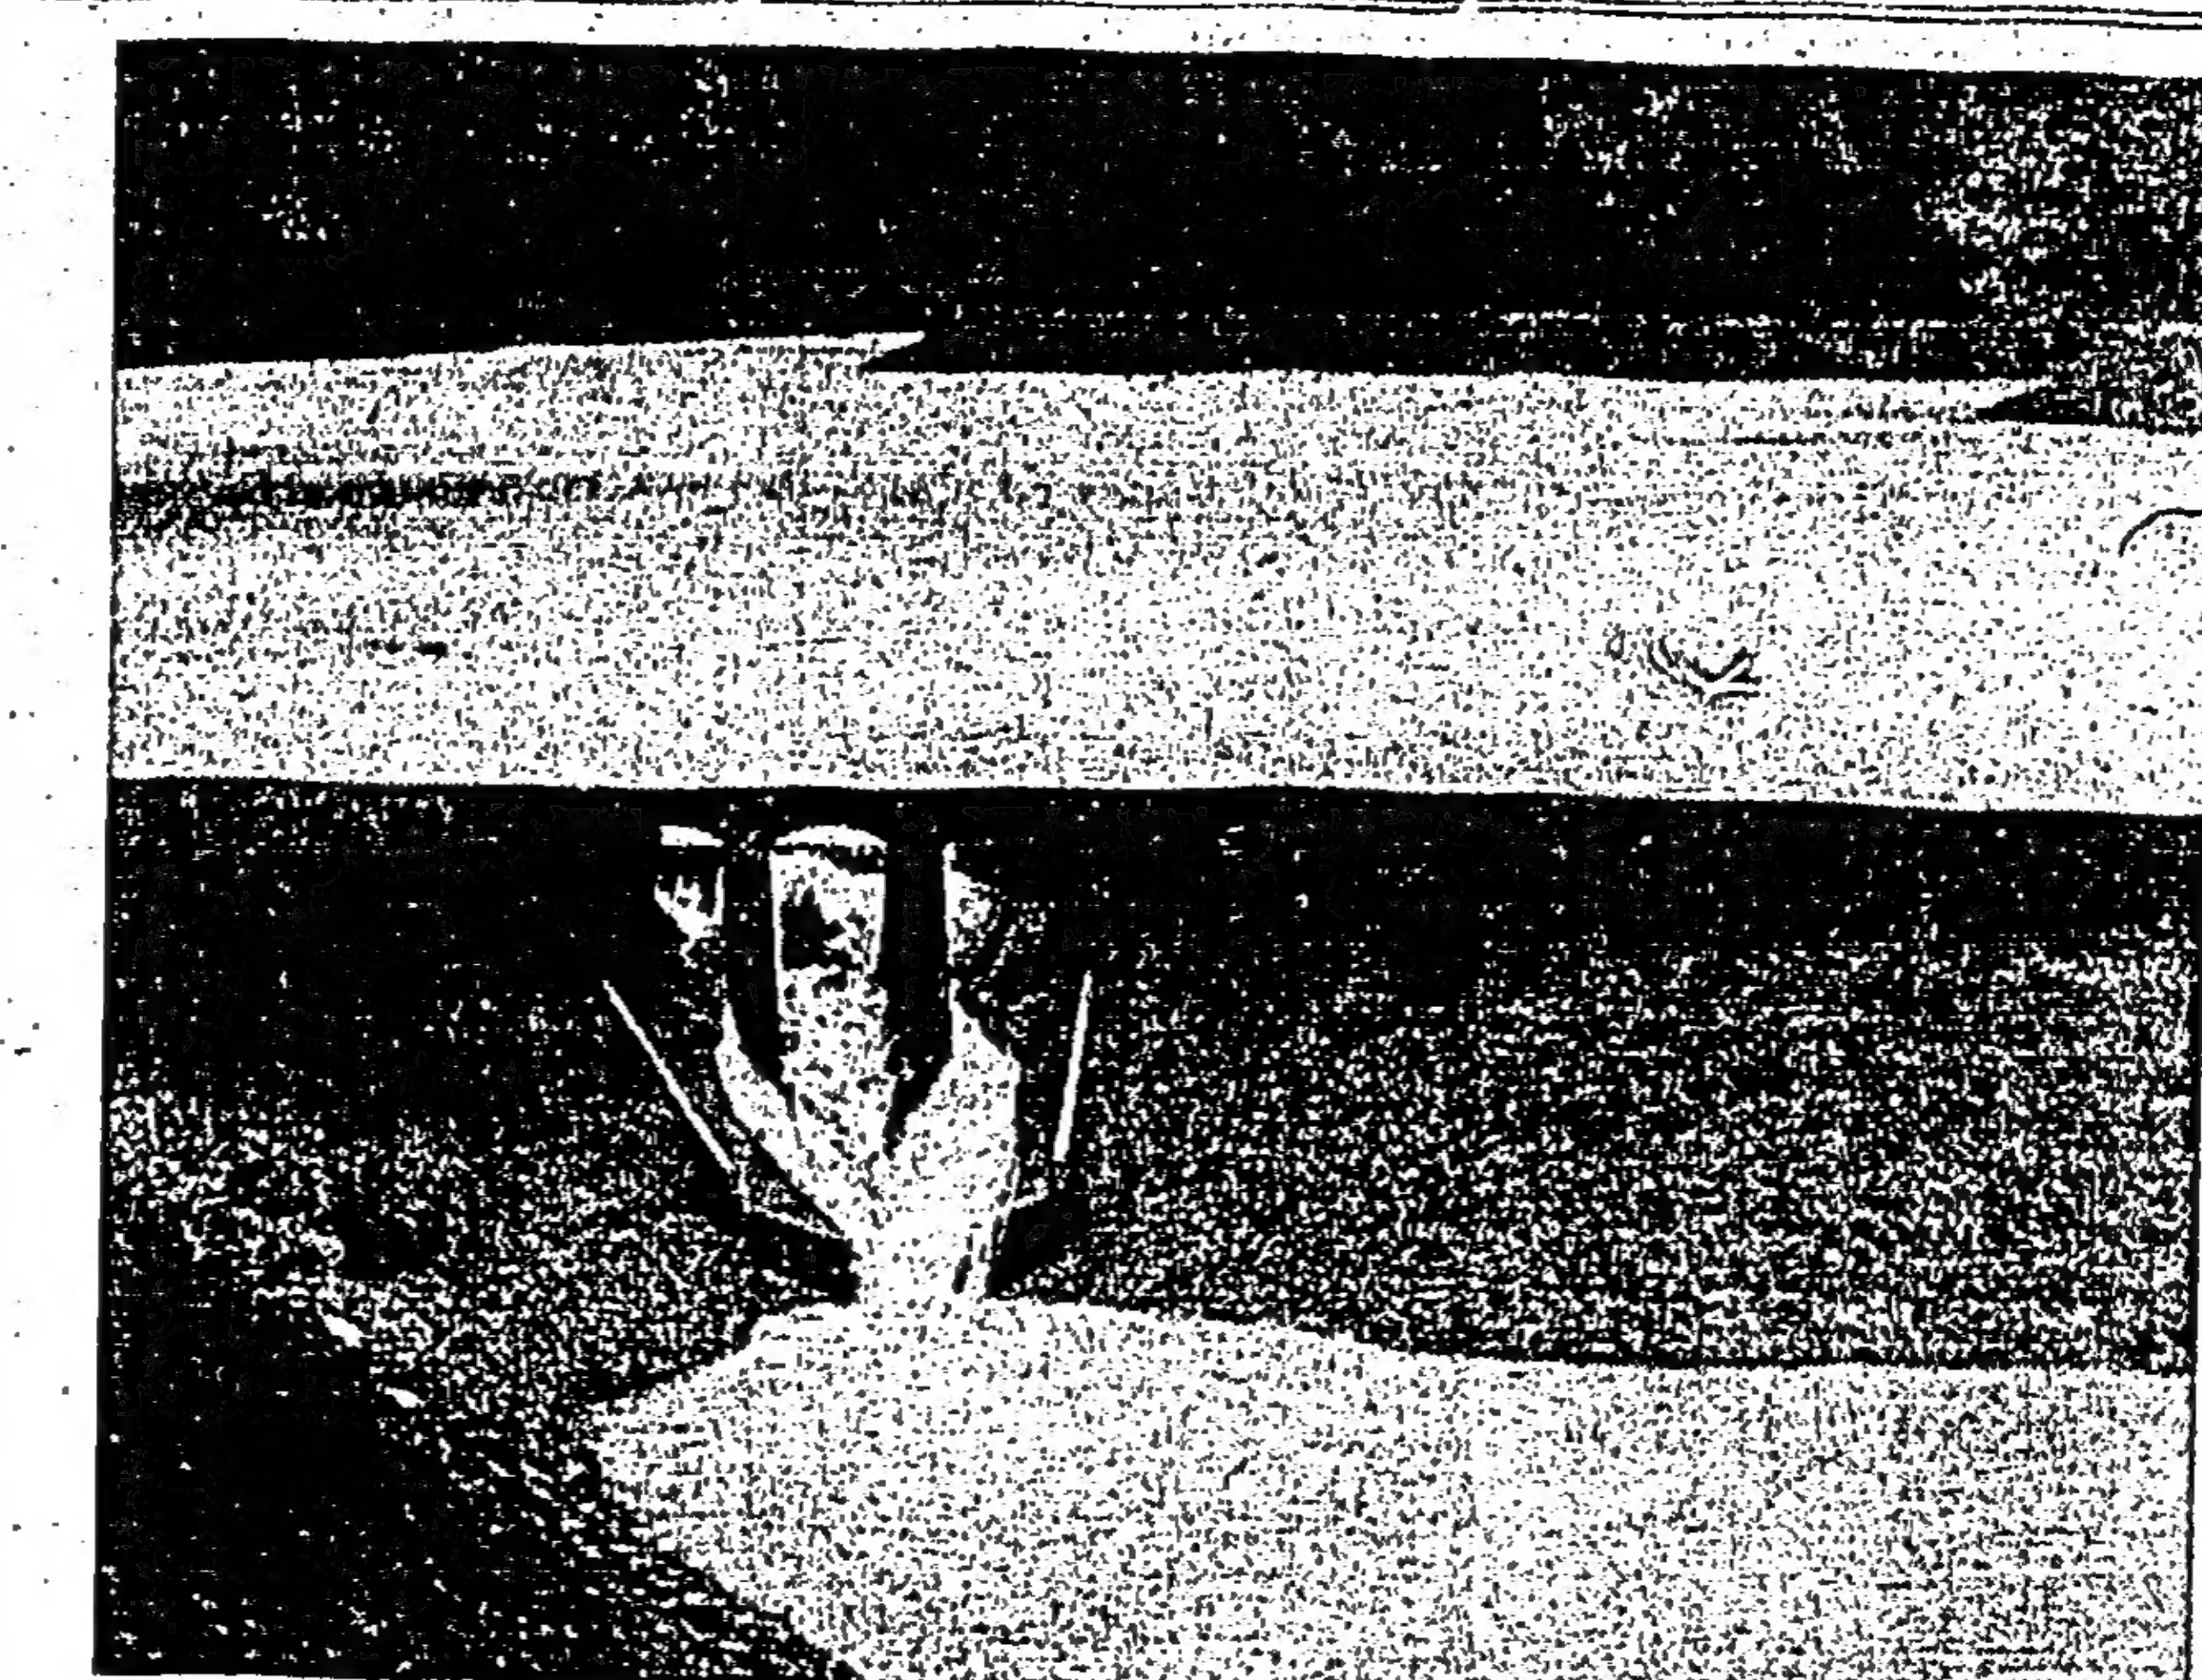

Peking, Sept. 7. Following an exchange of letters between the American and Japanese Legations, relative to the use of the glacis around the Legation Quarter as a bridge-path during military manoeuvres, the incident concerning Miss Emmeline Arguello, private secretary to Mr. Nelson T. Johnson, the U.S. Minister, and a Japanese soldier is considered closed.

Mr. Johnson is not going to protest against the request of the Japanese that all foreigners should refrain from riding manoeuvres by the Legation guards. The American Minister has replied to a Japanese letter settling forth the details of the affair that brought about the request.

Miss Arguello and several others were riding on the glacis on Monday morning when the Japanese guards began manoeuvres behind the Austrian Legation. One of the officers sent notes to all the riders, asking them to postpone their rides until the manoeuvres were over. All except Miss Arguello withdrew, according to the Japanese, but she rode through the formations a number of times and finally a Japanese soldier grasped the bridle of her horse. The letter said Miss Arguello struck the Japanese with a whip, which he grasped and threw away.

Among those who previously had withdrawn was Col. Benoit-Gurod, commander of the French guard.

The letter, which was written by Mr. Shochi Nakayama, detailed the incident and merely called attention to the "impropriety" of striking the soldier. The Japanese explained that there was no intention to withdraw the courtesies of the glacis from Peking residents, but requested that American nationals be requested to refrain from riding through the troops during drill.

The appreciable gain in water storage in the Colony is illustrated above. Top photo shows the state of Tytam Tank late yesterday afternoon. Lower picture shows water pouring in from one of the feeders. (Photos: King's Studio).

BOARDED FERRY FROM SAMPAN

ACTION COSTS MAN $5 IN FINE

Appearing before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, a travelling trader, Li Kwan-tai, was charged with boarding the Mongkok ferry from a sampan instead of through the proper turnstile.

"I think strictly speaking the case should go before the Marine Magistrate," said his Worship.

Inspector Ellis said these offences became quite a nuisance some time ago, but when steps were taken by the Ferry Company, the practice stopped. Now it would seem it was beginning to break out again. In this case, the defendant did not intend to defraud the Company, but was too lazy to get on to the wharf.

A fine of $5 was imposed.

POLISH-SOVIET INCIDENT

AERO-CLUB PLANE SHOT DOWN

Warsaw, Sept. 7. A Polish airplane which participated in the air force organised by the Polish Aero-Club and which, during the first stage from Warsaw to Baranowicz, unwittingly crossed the Russian frontier near Wolyn, was according to press reports, shot down to-day by Soviet-Russian frontier guards.

The plane is stated to have been wrecked while the two occupants, who apparently escaped without serious injuries, were taken into custody by the Russians.

The Polish Aero Club, it is stated, has taken necessary steps to bring about the release of the arrested men.

AIR FORCE FOR AUSTRALIA

NATIONAL DEFENCE MOVE

Sydney, Sept. 8. A Citizen's national defence movement was inaugurated at a luncheon to-day sponsored by the Royal Empire Society.

The principal speaker was Mr. W. M. Hughes, Prime Minister of Australia from 1915 to 1923. In the course of his speech he said: "We are, of all nations, the most vulnerable. Our very weakness and richness invites attack. It becomes us to prepare for all eventualities and to keep Australia for ourselves."

Mr. Hughes added that an overwhelming air force was the keynote of effective defence.—Reuter.

GREEK VESSEL SINKS

Margate, Sept. 7. The Greek steamer Archon, of 3,511 tons, while on her way from South America to London, collided during the night off Margate with the s.s. Tröherbert and went down within one hour. The crew was rescued.—Reuter.

CANAL BARGEES ON STRIKE

THREAT TO BLOCKADE PARIS

THE AGE OF POWER RESENTED

Paris, Aug. 20. Traffic on the rivers and canals of the North of France, extending from Paris to Belgium is paralysed owing to a bargee strike. River and canal traffic in France is almost as important as in Holland.

The strike is really due to the universal struggle between progress and tradition. The bargees represent tradition. Their barges are towed sometimes by horses but more often by electrical tractors.

Barges having Diesel engines running under their own power have precedence over the towed barges at the locks, and the bargees insist that the power barges use up all the space.

The bargees also want an eight-hour day and no night navigation. Only barges which can travel under their own power can travel at night, thus competing unfairly, it is complained, with the towed barges.

Last night strikers flung the eighteenth successive barrier across the River Oise, north of Paris, thus completely blocking navigation between the Seine and the whole canal system of Picardy and Flanders.

Armed guards were posted last night to stop the strikers from putting up a barrier of barges which would have cut off the heavy river traffic with Rouen and Havre.

No clashes have occurred yet, but the strikers, who now number about 3,000 and have a fleet of 600 barges, held a mass meeting at Compiègne yesterday and reiterated their intention to blockade the capital.

The Government is endeavouring to find a solution for the conflict.

BEDOUINS ATTACK A CONSUL-GENERAL

DUTCH REPRESENTATIVE IN JERUSALEM WOUNDED

Jerusalem, Sept. 8. While motoring near the Red Sea to-day, Mr. Sigfrid van Vriesland, Consul-General for the Netherlands in Jerusalem, was slightly wounded in the shoulder, when he was attacked by five armed Bedouins.

The assailants attempted to hold up the consul's car, but though fired upon and wounded he drove on and the Bedouins decamped.—Reuter.

N.S.W. LABOUR PARTY'S NEW MOVE

Sydney, Sept. 7. A new move to make Mr. J. T. Lang, former Premier and Treasurer of New South Wales, the leader of a united Labour Party in Federal politics is on foot.

However, according to reports in circulation to-day, it is unlikely that he will enter Federal politics at the next General Election.—Reuter.

TOKYO TEN-YEAR POLICY

JAPAN'S EMERGENCY PERIOD

Tokyo, Sept. 7.

Following the agreement on the necessity of national unity reached with Mr. Suzuki, president of the Seiyukai, Baron Wakatsuki, president of the Minseitō, and Mr. Adachi, president of the National League, the Premier, Admiral Viscount and representatives of all parties in the House of Peers, the four Cabinet Ministers who have seats in the Upper House were also present.

The Premier reminded them that Japan was going through an emergency period both at home and abroad, declaring that the government was doing everything in its power to act up to the Imperial Rescript issued on March 27, when Japan withdrew from the League of Nations.

He said he sought further support and assistance from the Upper House to enable the nation to pull through the emergency period solidly and successfully and also to formulate and execute a national policy to be fixed so as not to be altered in the coming decade at least.

After the meeting the Premier told newspapermen that all parties in the Upper House had acceded to his request. He said he had told the Upper House that he approved many planks in the platform submitted to the Government by the Seiyukai.—Reuter.

EARL'S DAUGHTER SENT FOR TRIAL

UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY CHARGE

London, Sept. 6.

Lady Evelyn Barbara Balfour, a daughter of the second Earl of Balfour, was sent for trial to-day by the magistrates in Castle Heddingham, Essex.

She was accused with 36 other farmers of unlawful assembly in connexion with the so-called "tithewar" in East Anglia.

All the other accused were committed for trial at the same time.—Reuter.

THE TREASURY RETURNS

London, Sept. 12.

The latest Treasury returns show that the ordinary revenue for the current financial year up to September 9 amounted to £259,423,005. At the corresponding date of last year the amount stood at £248,634,267.

The ordinary expenditure to date for the current year totalled £235,086,000 which is nearly £33 millions less than the total ordinary expenditure at the corresponding date of last year.—Reuter.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

MAN ALLEGED TO HAVE THROWN ACID.

A charge, for which the penalty is life sentence, was preferred against Ng Wah, a marine store collector, who appeared before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

He was indicted with having thrown corrosive fluid on Ching Yuet-ying, a woman, with intent to burn, maim, disfigure or do grievous bodily harm at Queen's Road, West, on September 9.

Sergeant Davies asked for 48 hours remand. He said he had been instructed not to ask for committal.

Mr. Schofield.—I think it is better to have it for committal. I don't like dealing with such cases myself.

Sergeant Davies.—I will approach the Assistant Director of the Criminal Investigation Department with a view to committal.

Mr. Schofield.—I see I have no power to take such cases myself, because the penalty is life sentence.

The application for the remand was granted, and defendant placed in police custody.

TRUNK MURDER

THE REMEDIOS BROTHERS PASS THROUGH

Local contact with the Shanghai "Trunk Murder" case was established yesterday with the arrival of the M. M. Felix Roussel from Shanghai. Aboard travelling under a police escort, were Patricio dos Remedios, alleged slayer of Choy Ling (Sary Chun), the 21-year-old Cantonese girl whose body was found by the Kobo police in a trunk aboard the s.s. Shanghai Maru on its arrival there; and Jose dos Remedios, his brother, whose connection with the case is said to have been cleared up by Patricio's confession.

The Felix Roussel berthed alongside the Kowloon wharf at 9.30 a.m., but it was not until 3.30, half an hour before her departure for Saigon and European ports, that the brothers were transferred by a Water Police launch to the Macao boat. With them were Detective Sub-Inspector F. J. Willis, of the Shanghai Municipal Police, who had taken a prominent part in the unravelling of the murder mystery which has interested three different countries, and Det. Sgt. Harvey, who, with Mr. da Silva, Shanghai Portuguese Consular representative, comprised the escort.

The transfer from steamer to steamer was quietly carried out, and it is doubtful if more than half-a-dozen members of the local community, outside of the officials concerned, saw the captives before they were whisked into a dock cabin on the s.s. Sui An, prior to the departure of the boat, at 5.30 in the afternoon, for Macao, where they are to stand their trial.

The captives, although handcuffed on the way down from Shanghai, were without these impediments when seen by S. C. M. Post representatives through the doorway of their cabin which was left open. They appeared not to be greatly depressed by their position, but were in fact quite cheerful and reading the evening papers. This was characteristic of their demeanour throughout the whole trip; and they slept and ate quite well.

Although it would not have appeared at first sight that they were other than ordinary passengers, it was obvious that they were being kept under close surveillance.

In the course of a chat with the Police officers, our representatives were put in possession of certain facts not generally known hitherto. It appears that the girl Choy Ling was a native of Canton, and when taken to Shanghai seven years ago, was in a situation described by being something similar to the lot of the mul-tai. Her earlier career after arrival at the Northern port is not clear, but it is understood to have been a very chequered one. She eventually met Patricio dos Remedios, it is said, in a cabaret, and later became his common-law wife. It is now alleged that he murdered her.

ADRIAN ROSS PASSES AWAY

FAMOUS MUSICAL COMEDY AUTHOR

London, Sept. 12. The death has occurred of the well-known musical comedy librettist and lyricist, Adrian Ross.—Reuter.

"Adrian Ross" was the pen name of Arthur Reed Ropes, M.A. He was born at Lewisham, London, on December 23, 1859, youngest son of the late William Hooper Ropes. He was educated at Priory House School, Clapton; Mill Hill School; City of London School and King's College, Cambridge.

Ropes was brilliant at the University, winning the Chancellor's Medal for English verse 1881, and the Members' Prize for English Essay in the same year. He was bracketed 11th Wrangler, Mathematical Tripos, in 1882, and was senior in Historical Tripos in 1883, in which year he won the Lightfoot scholarship. He became a Fellow of King's College, Cambridge, in 1884 and lectured in history, etc.

MAINE GOES WET.

REFUDIATION OF PROHIBITION IN AMERICA

Waterville, Sept. 12. Maine, after lending the prohibition movement for seventy-five years, voted wet by a majority of 5 to 4 on the twentieth day of the month to annul the prohibition laws.—Reuter.

GIFTS TO CHARITY.

CAUSE OF DEFICIT IN UNION CHURCH Y.P.S.

Gifts to charity amounting, throughout the year, to $175, caused a deficit of $85 in the accounts of the Union Church Young People's Society, reported Mr. A. W. Ingram, honorary treasurer, at the annual general meeting last night.

Dr. E. L. Allen, the President, took the chair and expressed the conviction that the more enthusiasm would be infused into the Society during the next 12 months through the advent of new members.

It was decided to hold meetings on the first and third Tuesdays of the month and officers were appointed to organise the library, hiking, picnics, social events, etc.

The membership was stated to have decreased from 63 to 52, owing mainly to departures from the Colony. Events during the year had been well supported apart from bathing picnics "perhaps attributable to the rough weather experienced on the trip to Clear Water Bay and the number of ladies who suffered from sea sickness."

The Vice President, Mr. A. W. Ingram, the honorary secretary, Mr. F. Selwood, and other officers were re-elected and the following were appointed to the General Committee: Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Leib, Mr. S. Wicker, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Allen, and Mr. Spiera.

ECONOMIC BODY

NEW COMMISSION TO KEEP WATCH

In accordance with a decision reached at the Kuling Conference, all economic schemes will hereafter be examined and approved by a National Economic Commission before they are carried into effect, stated Mr. Chin Fen, chairman of the preparatory committee.

Mr. Chin added, however, that the Commission was primarily intended to be a planning organ, and would not assume executive functions. He expected the commission to be formally inaugurated within a month, after which it would be placed under the direction of the standing committee of three, composed of Mr. Wang Ching-wei, Mr. Sun Fo and Mr. T. V. Soong, who would be directly responsible to the National Government instead of the Executive Yuan.

The Commission will organise a secretary and economic survey department, and will later take charge of first-hand surveys and statistical work preparatory to the formulation of projects.—Reuter.

RAILWAY SCHEME.

RAISING OF STATUS OF S.M.R. OFFICES

Dairen, Sept. 12.

The South Manchuria Railway Company announces a new plan for enlarging and raising the status of the Shanghai, Canton and Peking offices of the company, which, according to some reports here, will become virtual embassies.

The company's scheme, in any event is taken as an indication that business relations between Japan and China have improved. It is also reported here that the South Manchuria Railway director, Mr. Sogo, has been invited by Chekiang capitalists to buy them a visit and that he will leave for Shanghai to-morrow.—Reuter.

of the times. Thus it was not long before he mentioned the market. "I dropped around to the stock exchange this morning," he was saying. "Quite a little activity!"

"Was there?" Eve asked, hoping he would explain in detail.

"Yes," he answered, glad for an attentive audience. He named several stocks which had advanced and others which had shown a decline. Eve nodded, listening. She tried to imitate Dick's poker face when Reece mentioned Pure Soap, Inc.

"Pure Soap took a slide," he said authoritatively. "That will hit a lot of fellows. Pure Soap a popular number."

"When did all this happen?" Eve asked, hoping she gave no indication of the concern she felt.

"Just before noon," he answered.

Eve noted that Dick and the men he was with were leaving. She slipped the strong, hot coffee slowly and ate her dessert without further comment. When she had finished she glanced at her watch and arose.

"I think I'll leave you," she said, slipping into her fur jacket before Reece could assist her. "I have an errand to do before going back to the office—and there is no need for you to hurry." She managed to smile at Mona. At the desk she signalled the waiter and paid her check.

Then she boarded a trolley to ride the 10 blocks to the bank. The car seemed to be forever stopping for traffic lights. Finally it arrived at the square and impatiently Eve hurried out.

The usual calm atmosphere pervaded the stock and bond department of the bank. Eve asked for Mr. Brown but he was out. His assistant offered to help her.

"Pure Soap, Inc.—has it gone down?" she asked.

"Well, it dropped two points this morning," he answered calmly. "But it's gone up again within the last hour. Just a minute and I'll get you the figures."

Eve's knees were weak and she sank gratefully into a chair. This was another angle of playing the market. Well, she was still safe. But ought she sell now in case the stocks might drop again?

The young man advised her to wait. Eve returned to her office slowly and thoughtfully.

Arlene was interested in Eve's account of the luncheon.

"I thought Mona was playing up to Reece at Freda's party last night," Arlene commented. "I felt sorry for Mr. Bliss. He's so nice. And to think he fell for Mona, only

"We'll have to watch out for that girl," declared Eve.

"She's the worst traffic jam this office has ever been mixed up with!" added Arlene.

But Eve scarcely heard her. She wondered if Dick had seen her with Mona and Reece at the restaurant. What would he think after what had occurred the night before?

Perhaps it would be better for her not to mention the luncheon. However, Eve was worried.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

Why go on a rampage of bidding just because you hold a long solid major suit? When you need definite high card strength from partner in order to make game it may be better to pass your hand originally when in first or second position, and you can then enter the bidding on a later round. The great trouble in opening such a hand originally may find you playing it at a slam when even game may be difficult.

This was clearly brought out in the following hand, which was recently played in a duplicate match. Several players opened South's hand with one spade and as a result, at several tables, they played the hand at a slam contract which was easily defeated, and even those who arrived at game experienced some trouble in making it. However, with proper bidding and good play the hand can be made.

The Bidding

The bidding should be South pass, West one club, North need get in no hurry to do anything about this and should pass. East would overcall with one heart, South bids one spade, West bids two diamonds, North makes a constructive response of two spades. East passes and South goes to three spades, while North carries the contract to four.

The Play

The ace and king of hearts were immediately cashed by West, who shifted to the ten of clubs, South winning with the king. South then played six straight spade tricks, bearing down to the ace and jack of clubs in dummy. West was forced to bear down to the queen and nine of clubs and the king and jack of diamonds. East kept two diamonds and two hearts.

South now led the deuce of diamonds and when West was careless enough to play the jack, the dummy went up with the ace, immediately returning the ten of diamonds, throwing West in the lead and forcing him to lead away from his queen-nine of clubs.

However, if West goes right up with the king of diamonds, this will force North to win with the ace and all that he can do is to cash his ace of clubs.

Here we find a hand with plenty of quick tricks and good support from partner going down at four spades. It is this type of hand which proves that distribution is equally as important, if not more so, as high cards.

RACE PONY KILLED

NEWCOMER FROM AUSTRALIA

MISHAP DUE TO SCARE

One of the recently arrived Australian ponies No. 14, owned by Messrs. Lewis and Tinson, had to be destroyed this morning following an accident which occurred as it was being taken from the stables to the racecourse.

The animal, a mare, after getting a scare and breaking away from its mao at the point where the stable path meets with Wanching Road, came to grief in front of the Dragon Motor Garage.

One report states that the animal ran its head through a plate glass window.

As far as could be ascertained there were no external injuries.

Mr. Watson, the veterinary surgeon, was summoned and it was found that the pony was paralyzed in its legs and could not get up. The animal was humanely destroyed and the carcass removed to a slaughter house.

It was pointed out by a prominent local racing man that a very obvious danger existed at this corner. At this time of the year the ponies were liable to get "above themselves" and to break away from their maoos. If they did so they were very liable to crash into the wall which borders the nullah.

OFFICER'S LUCKY ESCAPE

BLASTING INCIDENT AT TYTAM

Sergeant B. G. Baker, the well-known Police cricketeer, had an alarming experience when riding a motor-cycle near Tytam on August 24 at about 5.30 p.m., when a piece of granite weighing about 10 lbs. struck him on the right wrist inflicting an ugly gash.

The incident was related at the Central Magistracy this morning, when the foreman of the Yu Lee contractors, summoned for failing to take sufficient precautions during blasting operations, was fined $250.

Sergeant Baker said he lost control of the cycle for a moment, but managed to pull up. He saw blasting operations on the catchwater at Tytam Tuk in progress. There were no flags or signals on the road.

Mr. Schofield remarked that such an incident might have easily caused somebody's death, and then there would have been a charge of manslaughter against defendant.

The scene of the blasting was about 500 feet from the road.

MRS. DANKO IMPROVES

Shanghai, Sept. '8.

Tamara Dobrovorskaya, the wife of G. Danko suffering from stab wounds received in the French Concession on Tuesday, was reported at the General Hospital yesterday as having improved. She has not yet, however, passed the critical period. Meanwhile, Danko remains in the Amoy Road Gaol, pending charges by the American authorities.

AMATEUR GOLF

RECORD BEATEN IN AMERICA

FISCHER LEADS THE FIELD

Cincinnati, Sept. 12.

The qualifying rounds of the American amateur golf championship were completed to-day at the Kenwood Country Club, and an all-time record was broken thanks to a brilliant round of 69 by Johnny Fischer over the last eighteen holes.

Fischer led the field by a comfortable margin at the end of the qualifying stages.

His first round score was 72 and his 69 on the second venture gave him an aggregate for the 36 holes of 141, which is a new all-time qualifying round record, beating that of 142 established by Corkran in 1924.

Fischer played great golf to-day, holing out some notable shots on the greens.—Reuter.

Pat Sawyer, of Minneapolis, later came in with an excellent card which placed him second to Fischer with an aggregate of 142. He did the first 36 holes in 70 and the second in 72.

Aggregates of 149 qualified for the match play stages and twelve competitors, with scores of 150 were required to play off for the last eight positions.—Reuter.

Mr. J. C. Bolland, of 499 The Peak, was summoned before Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court this morning for allowing his dog to be abroad in Stubbs Road without a muzzle. Defendant pleaded guilty and a fine of $8 was imposed.
